R.J. Reynolds:

A Four-Year High School Again

People

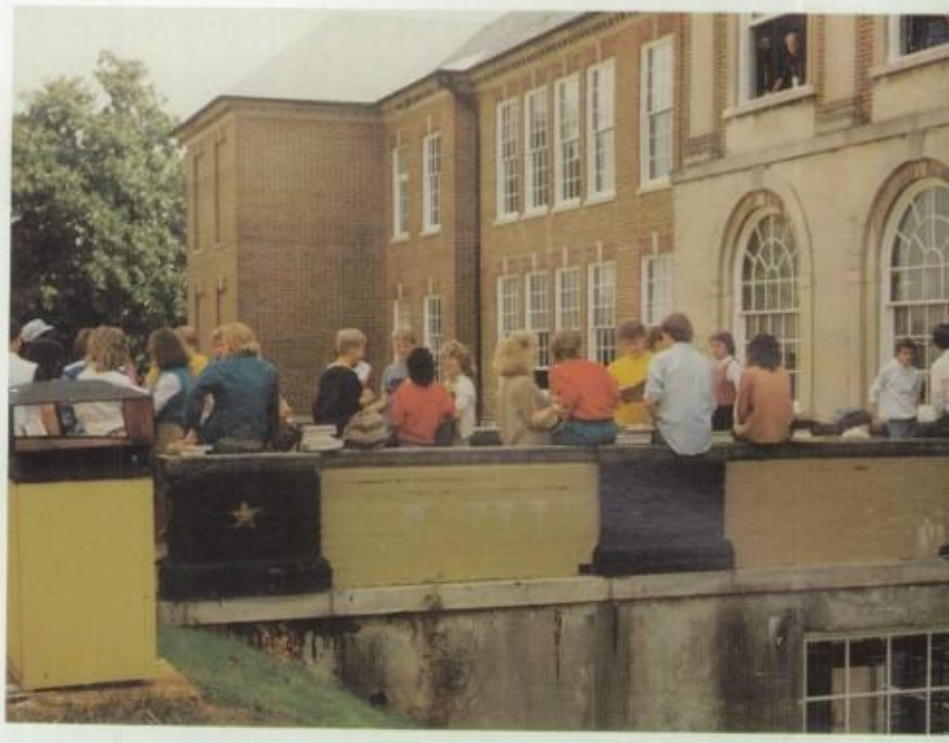
Sophomores and Freshmen?

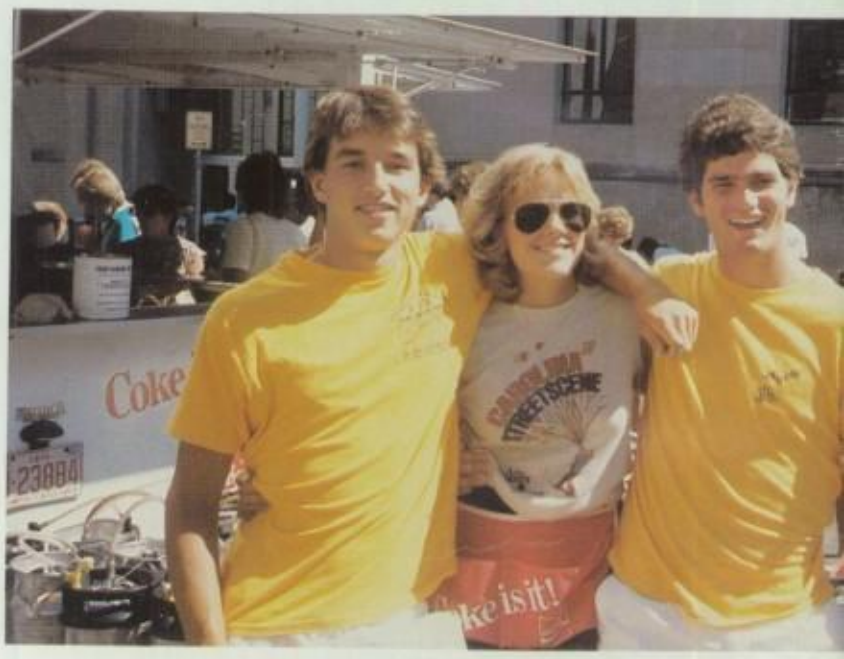
The Four-Year Plan, passed by the Forsyth County School Board, goes into effect this year.

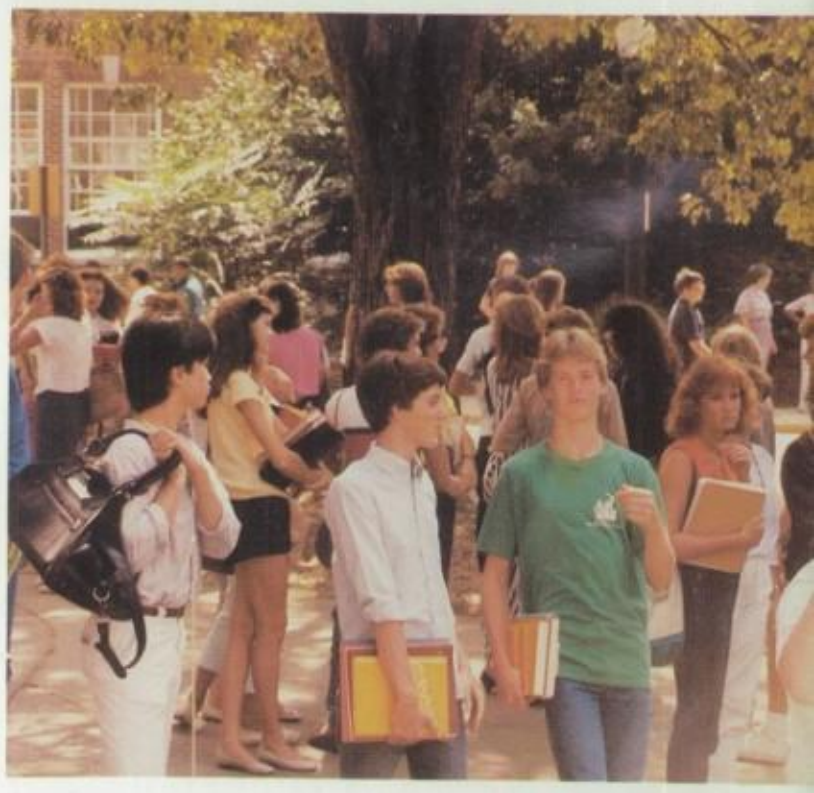
UP FRONT

When 2,000 students entered Reynolds Senior High School September 4, no one was really prepared for the change although the School Board had debated initiating the four-year plan for several years. Eight hundred more students filled the classrooms and halls; trailers occupied the lawn in the Horseshoe; fights became a daily occurrence; and teachers and students complained about the intolerable conditions created by the change.

The halls, freshly painted during the summer, had contemporary art designs which were anachronistic against the magnificent arched windows of our old building. But soon, the halls were so scratched and scraped from students rubbing against them during the change of classes, that by January no one realized the building had been recently painted.





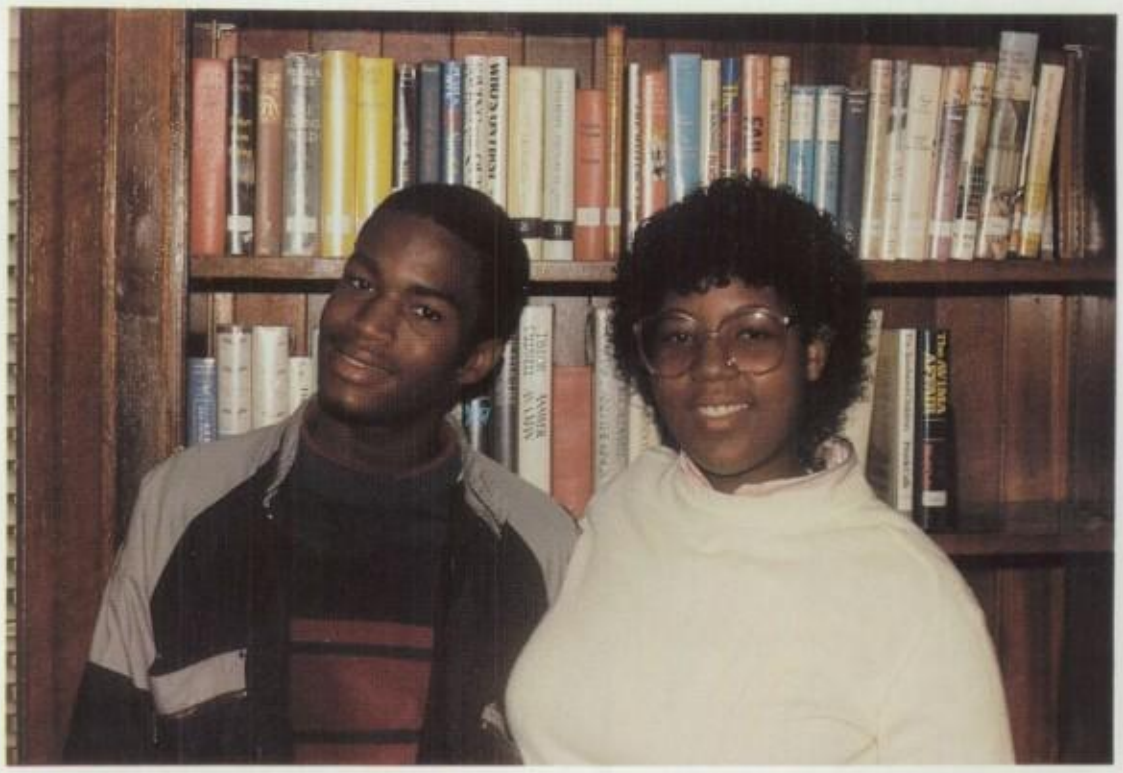


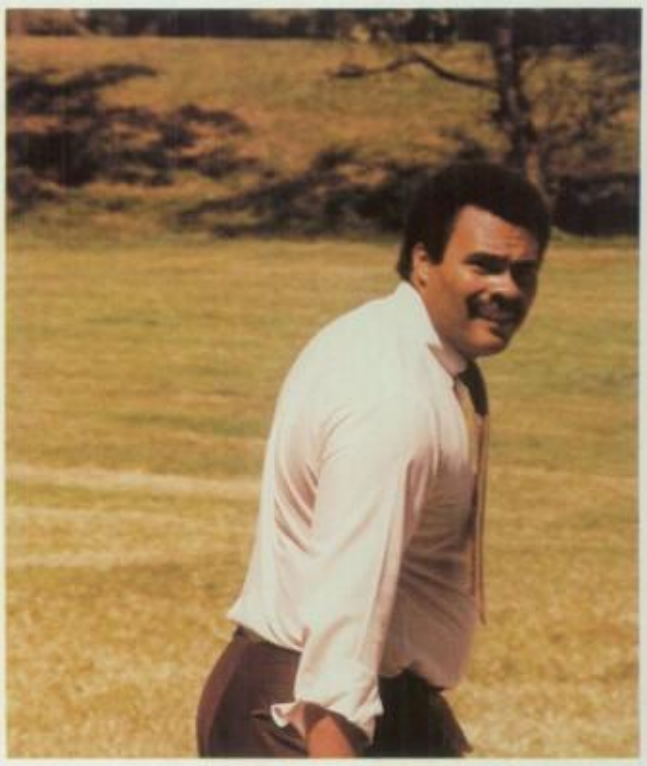
UP FRONT

And there were other changes! Classes began at 7:52 each morning, lunches were shortened to 30 minutes, and smoking was prohibited on campus. We were required to take a test on the Student Handbook, and only Juniors and Seniors were allowed to have a car on campus or to leave the grounds during lunch. Busses and Driver's Education vehicles replaced little sports cars in front of the landing in the morning, and frisbee and tag football moved from the Horseshoe to Reynolda Gardens. Toilet paper hung from every tree on campus after each victory ... or in fact, after each defeat.

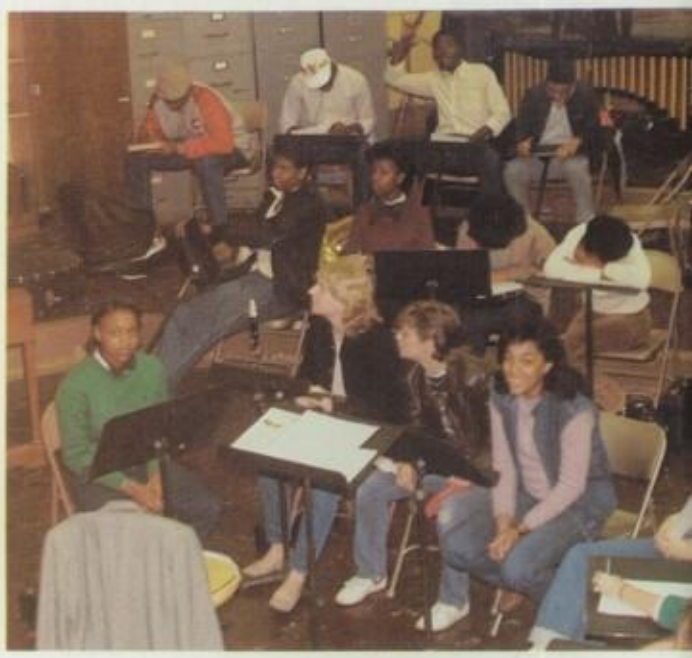
Noisy students packed the cafeteria, and CDC had its regulars with those who tried to buck the system. Assemblies became an endurance test for those with any sense of propriety ... but most important to the seniors, students no longer sang the "Alma Mater" at the end of each program as they had done for generations.

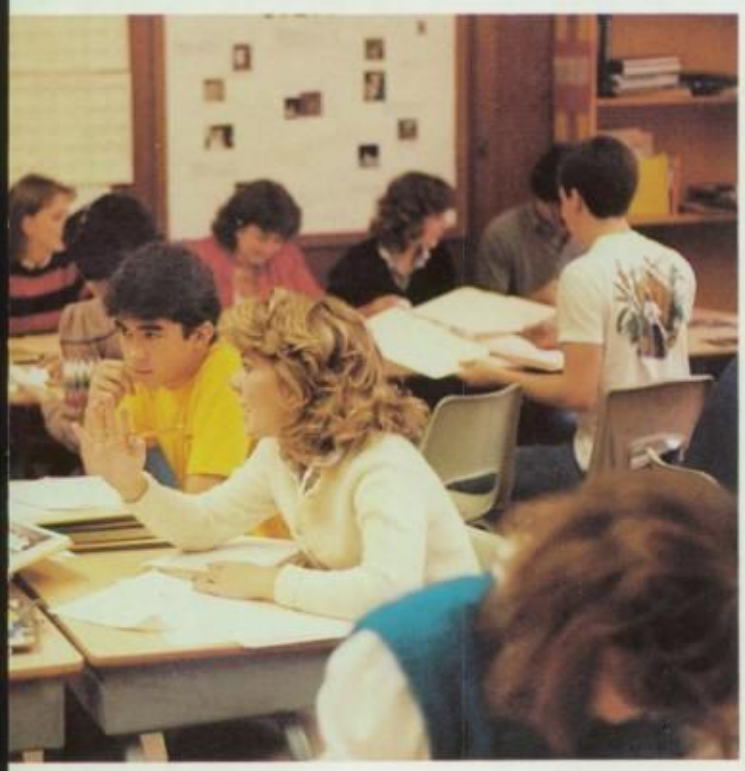
PIEDMONT

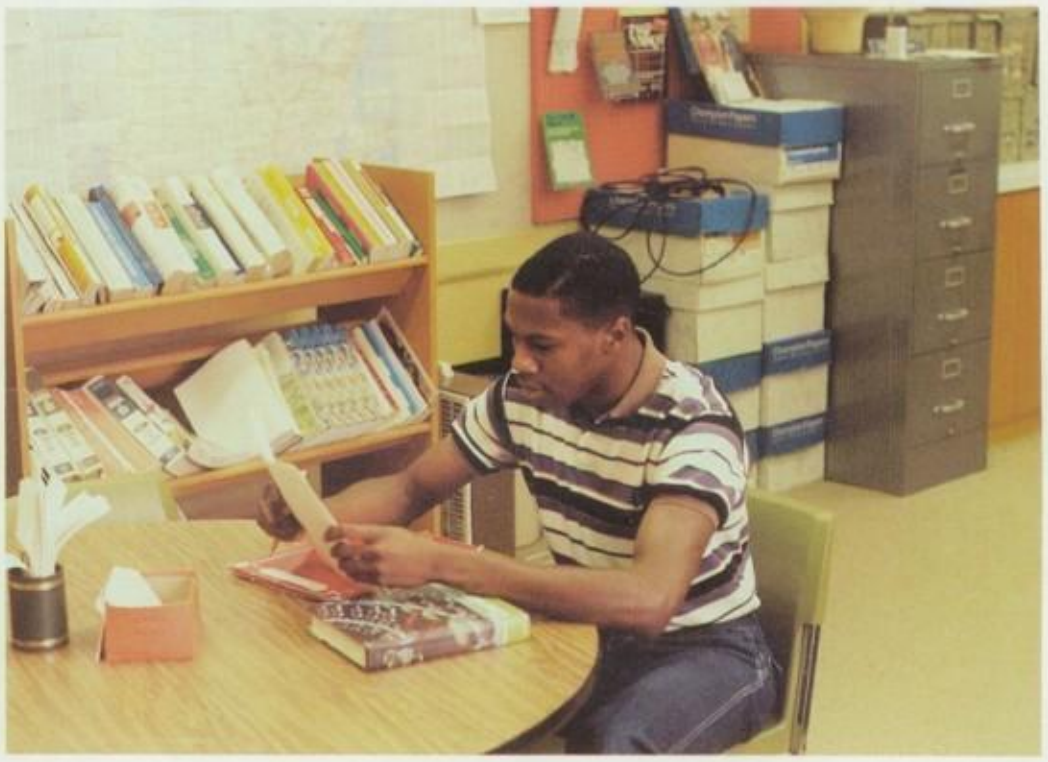




news for you



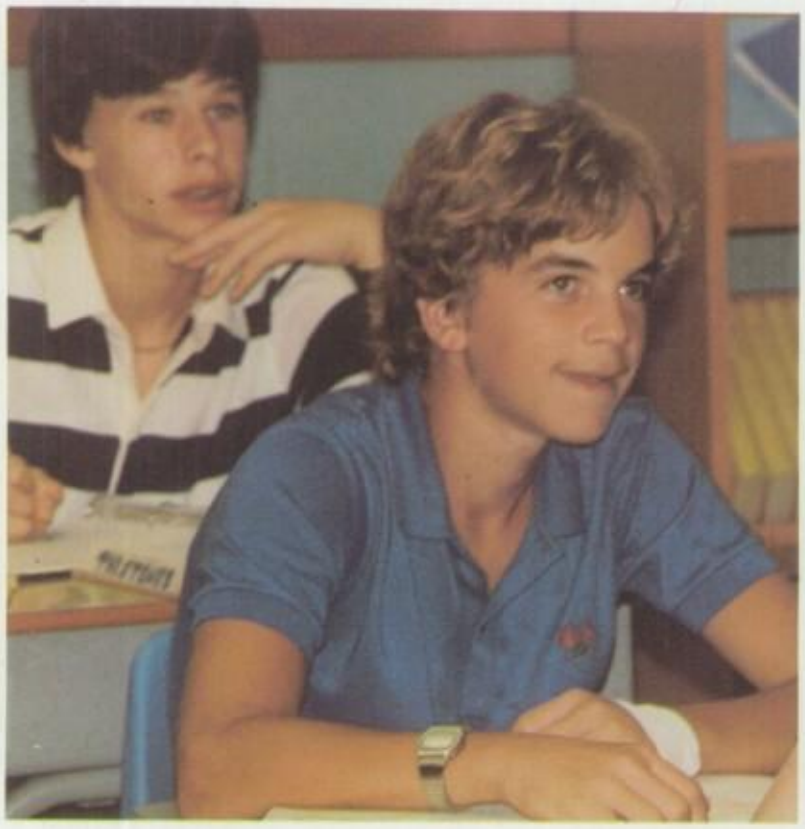


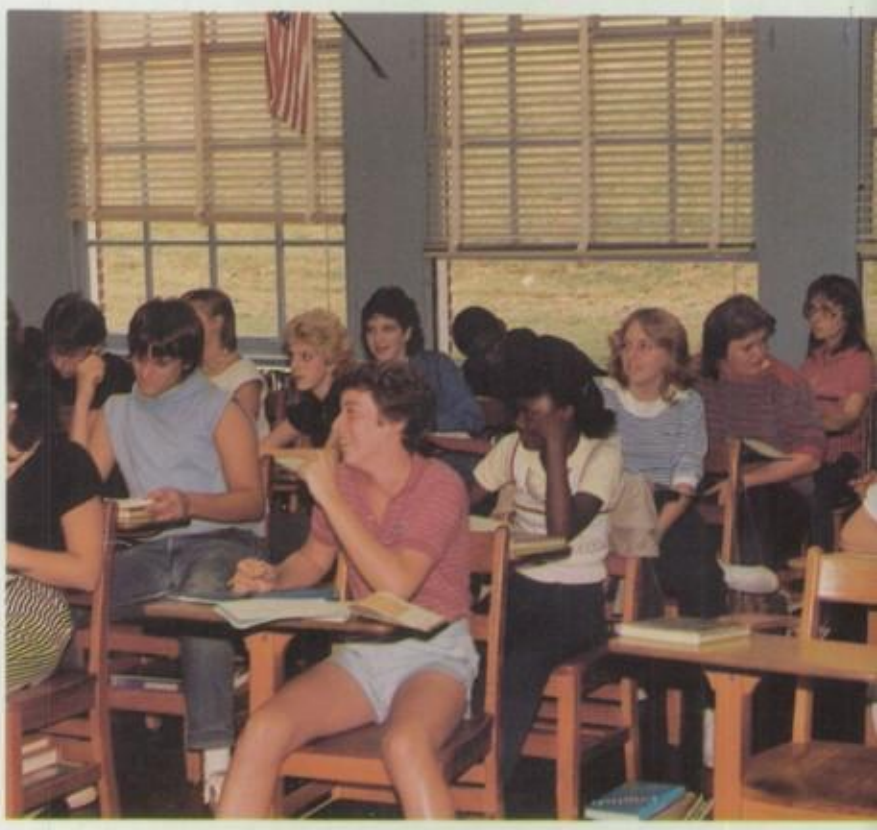


Teachers reported to school at 7:30 a.m. Their classes were larger than in years past, and many were required to change rooms and to push their supplies from class to class. The lament was heard over and over that they did not have time to prepare as they wished or to get to know their colleagues, half of whom were new to Reynolds.

It would have been so easy to wallow in our misery about the changes we disliked, but before long, most of the students and the faculty were determined to make this a good year in spite of the conditions.

After all, when we look back to our days at Reynolds High School, we probably won't remember many of the facts we have learned or the conditions we experienced, but we will remember the people who were a part of this special time of our lives.





UP ON THE HILL

We brought victory to our stadium on Homecoming night, and the crowning of Tracey Scales and Kristi Wilkins made the evening more memorable.

We had class officer elections, and we also had our own mock national election. We became involved with the community outside the school with the annual canned-food drive at Thanksviving to the Crisis Control. The Follies drew a tremendous crowd, and all the glamour of Society Hill was presented by the talent of its students.

Reynolds celebrated Homecoming with the float competition, a bonfire and pep rally, and a football victory against High Point Central.

As a spirit booster, Key Club stationed an abandoned car decorated with slogans, against the Demons, on the auditorium steps.

The float race was won by Senior Girls' Service Club and Senior Service Club's "Barbecue the Bison." While Reynolds Girls Club and Reynolds Service Club came in second place with "No Bison Roams in the Demon Home." "Demons at Work" by the Leo's Club took third place.

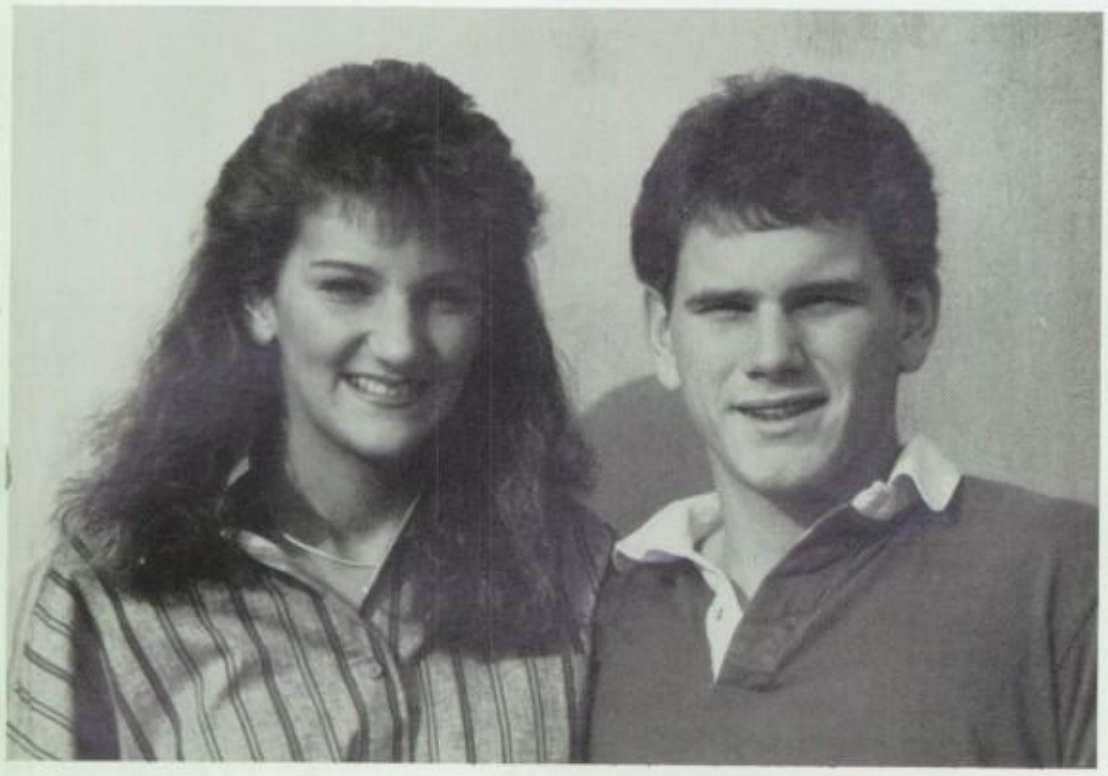
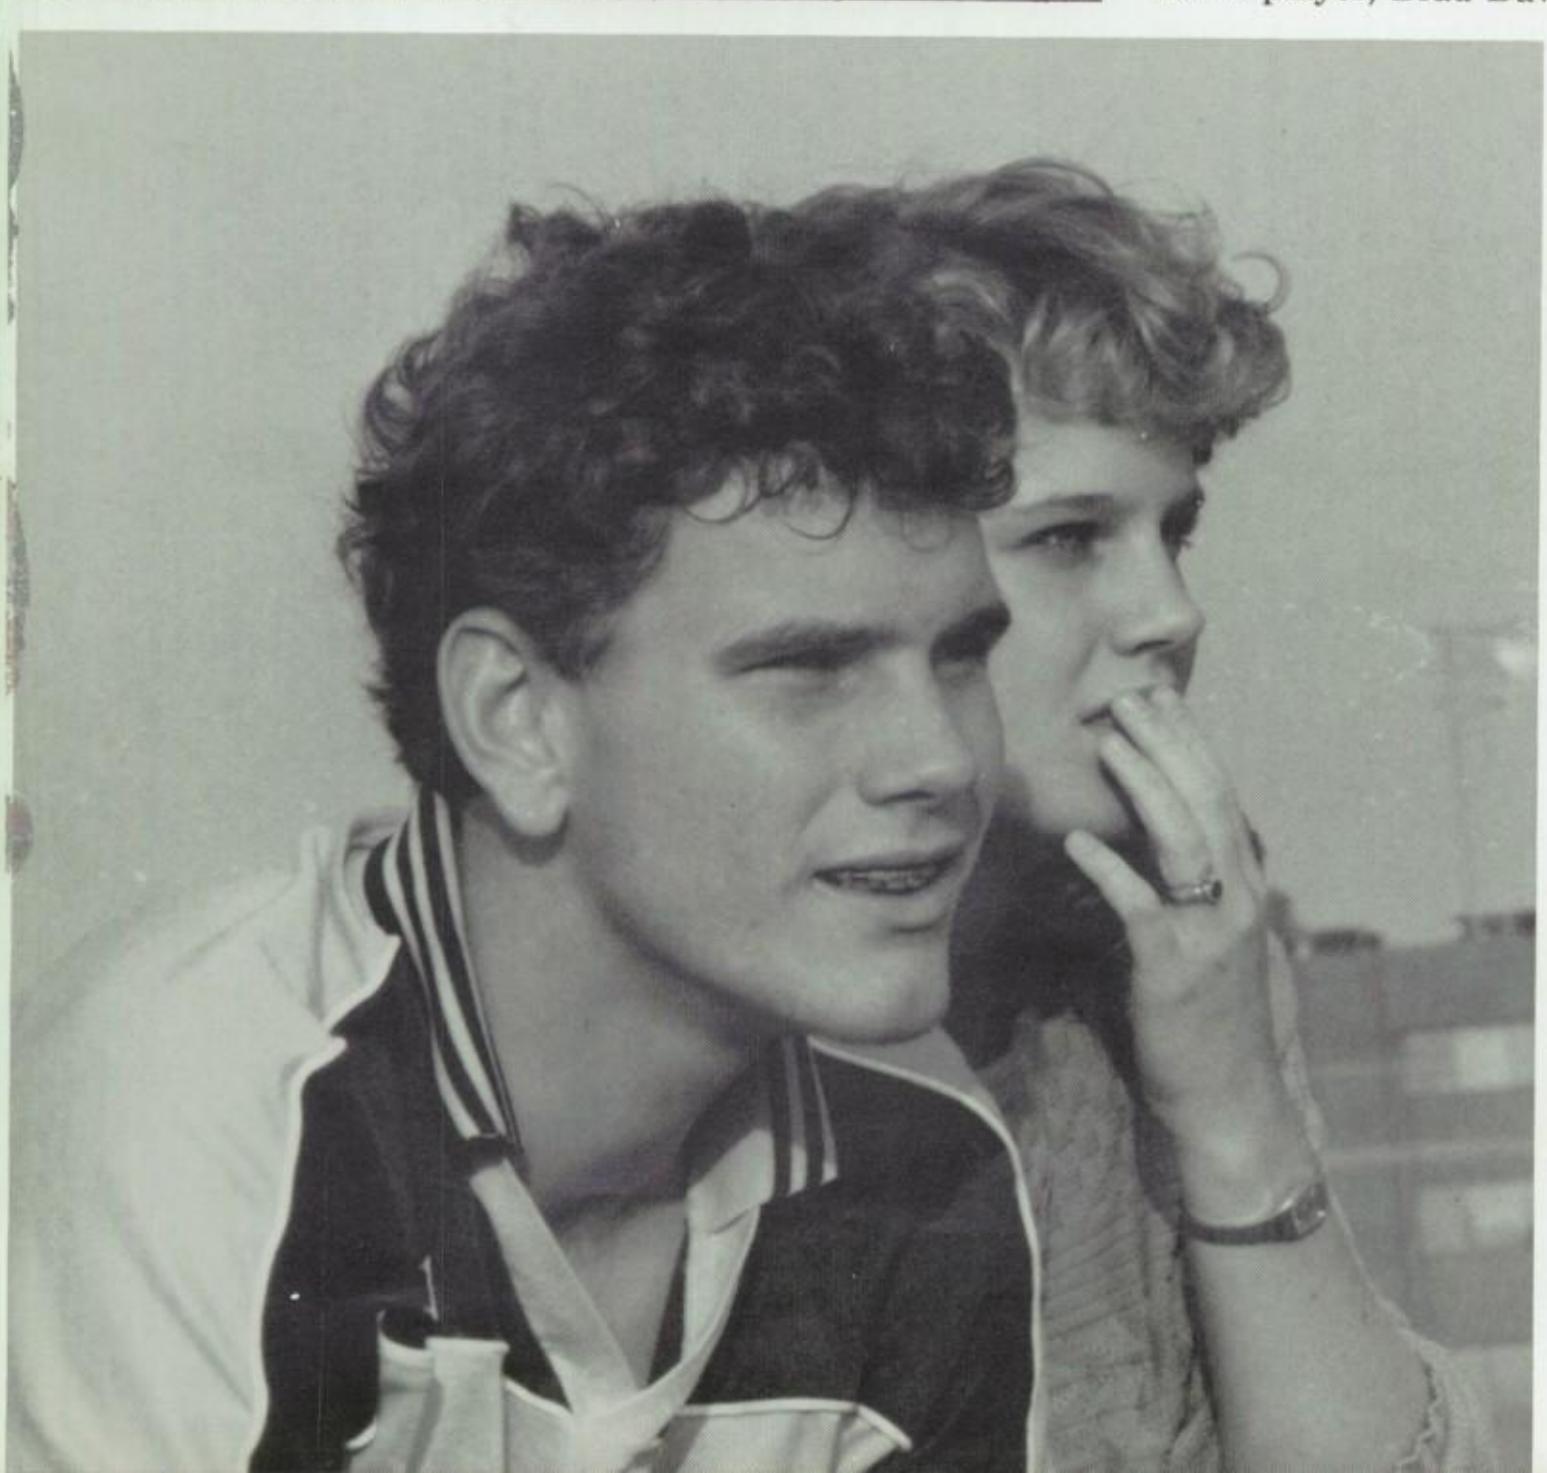
JOCK OF THE YEAR WACHTEL WINS OVER 12 CANDIDATES



Jock of the Year is a fall tradition at Reynolds High School, sponsored by the Black and Gold staff as a money making project. A few weeks before Homecoming, an announcement is made, saying that any senior girl can sponsor an athlete playing a fall sport for Jock of the Year award. This involves collecting money from the student body to support their candidate for Jock of the Year.

Lori Burgess sponsored Mark Wachtel, a tri-captain of the soccer team. Since Lori collected over $250, Mark became the winner. He was awarded his trophy at the Homecoming pep rally. Others who placed were football players Chris Spach and Scott Faircloth, and soccer player, Brad Davis.



Trivial Pursuit has been sweeping the nation to become one of the biggest hits of the year. It is a game designed to test a person's knowledge of facts concerning all topics.

Because of the overwhelming success of Trivial Pursuit, new varieties have been discovered. A less challenging game is available for teenagers, and also, other versions such as, Baby Boomer and T.V. Trivia. As an idea that was instantly successful, Trivial Pursuit promises to be a favorite for years to come.

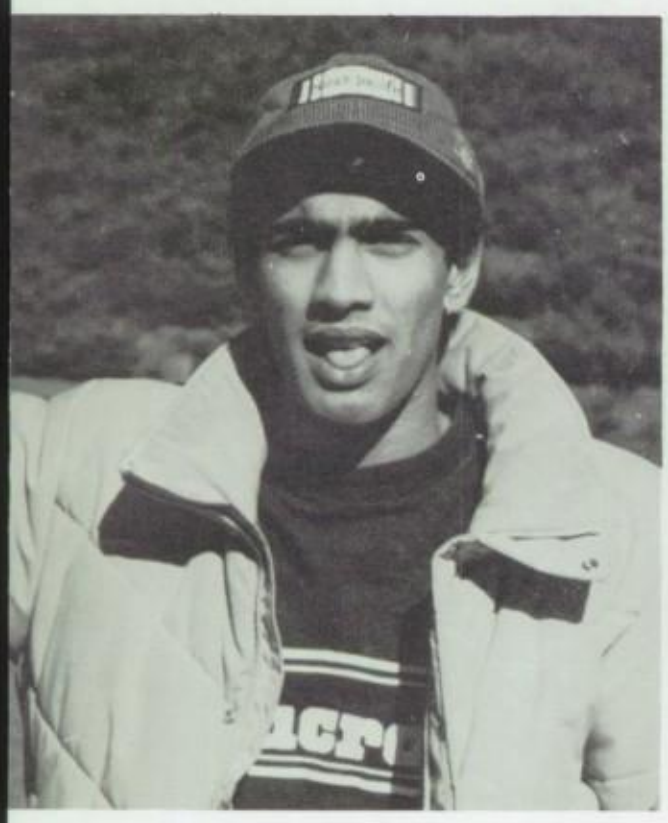
YOUNG LIFE

One of the most fulfilling youth programs that students in the 9th-12th grades enjoy is Young Life. It is a nondenominational, church-affiliated organization which brings students together to have fun, make friends, and learn to grown in their faith.

Besides weekly meetings, there are opportunities offered for various trips across the country. These trips include, a two-week adventure in the mountains of Colorado, weekend trips offered several times throughout the year to Windy Gap, and other trips ranging from New York to California. Each of these trips allows the students to enjoy friends and fellowship in beautiful surroundings.

One of the most appealing elements of Young Life is that it allows the students to take part in skits and songs and gives the student confidence to be his own person. Another important factor of Young Life is that it stresses individuality. Everyone is accepted and welcomed regardless of who he is and what he feels. What's on the iside is what counts at Young Life.



FOLLIES

On March 29 and 30, one of the biggest events of the year took place — the Key Club Follies. The entire student body had the opportunity to become involved in the performance. While stage work and production was done by Key Club members, each act was uniquely created by members of the student body. What made the show a success was the good humor, glamour, and musical selections. They were definitely two of the most entertaining and enjoyable evenings of the school year.

THE TRIALS OF A SENIOR

When the school bell rang in September, football was in the air, the days were becoming crisper, and the leaves were turning beautiful fall colors. The seniors were happily involved in their last year of high school, but the tension was beginning to build as they began their college preparations. They ordered catalogues, visited campuses, and they filled out applications.

Now the temperature is rising, the flowers are blooming, the grass is growing, and spring fever is starting to set in. For seniors, this means the books spend more time in the lockers while the students spend less time in the classrooms (otherwise known as "senior slack"). The Saturday mornings spent taking the SAT's and weeks of waiting to hear from the colleges are rapidly becoming memories. Attention is now being turned to more important upcoming events such as the prom, baseball games, and, of course, the end-of-the-year beachtrip. Although applying to college is hard and tiring, learning that you've been accepted makes it all worthwhile.

"IF WINTER COMES,

It all started with summer-like weather at Christmas, which was immediately followed by the first big snow around exam time. Mother Nature had left us with several inches of snow, freezing temperatures, and dreary days. She was letting us know that winter had arrived and was here to stay. The bad weather seemed to put a damper on everything. Cars wouldn't start, basketball games were cancelled because of icy roads, parties were rare, yearbook deadlines were interrupted, and everybody seemed depressed.

But all of a sudden, the clouds lifted, the sun came out, and the wind started to blow in warm air. Mother Nature was rewarding us for our hard work first semester and brought spring the last week of February. Everyone seemed to perk up and dreams of warmer days were on everyone's mind. It was a time for outdoor lunches in the horseshoe, weekends at Reynolda Gardens, parties, convertibles, sunglasses, and favorite people.

CAN SPRING BE FAR BEHIND?"

ADVANCED PLACEMENT: OPPORTUNITY AND CHALLENGE

BY MICHELLE STRAKA

Every day juniors and seniors leave the Reynolds campus and go to the Career Center. They participate in the Advanced Placement courses with students form other high schools in the district.

The courses offer a greater challenge and more dedication than those offered at the home schools. Courses are available in all demanding academic fields: English, calculus, history, and science. These classes participated in a curriculum equal to that of a college courses. At the end of the year students are able to take the Princeton National Advanced Placement Exams. If the student scores high enough, he may receive credit for that course in college.

Why do these students push themselves in more demanding classes instead of taking it easy during their last two years of high school?

Bill Davis, a senior who takes physics, calculus, and literature at the Career Center says, "Basically to get a head start on college and to raise my G.P.A. in those classes I may possibly retake."

Elizabeth Watson, who has taken A.P. classes both her junior and senior year feels, "A.P. classes offer a challenge to me and a chance for really concentrated studies. I take A.P. classes to gain credit for them so that my requirements will be more flexible."

Ms. Rebecca Brown, a teacher of A.P. English at the Career Center, credits the A.P. program with, "... giving students the opportunity to experience competition and challenge equal to that they will experience in college. Some of the best students from all eight high schools meet each other, and their different backgrounds add diversity to classroom discussions. Learning is the common ground and everyone benefits."

The Advanced Placement program has continued to flourish and to educate students through the years. Its desirable benefits continue to be an attraction to the dedicated student.

FLASHES OF 1984:

by Betsy Sumner

Memorable Phrases and Crazes

The year 1984 will always be remembered for its ad phrases. This was the year in which Clara Peller reached near-immortality with her famous phrase, "Where's the beef?" This phrase was seen and heard everywhere. It was on the fronts of T-shirts and the lips of politicians.

Another phrase from '84 which should be recorded in history was the title of a popular movie, "Ghostbusters." This seemingly innocent phrase appeared and reappeared in various forms throughout the year. A salesman marking down prices was no longer a mere salesman instead, he was a "Pricebuster." A politician against Mondale was no longer a mere Republican, he was a "Fritzbuster." And so throughout the year it continued.

During the year, several crazes received widespread appeal. Three men who profitted from this appeal were the creators of Trivial Pursuit, Scott Abbott, Chris Haney, and John Haney. What started as a rapidly growing fad, appeared to be coming a new game classic. The game's creators could not be happier.

Another product which was greeted with great excitement in 1984 were videocassette players. Like the Cabbage Patch craze of '83, videocassette players were hot items on Santa's list this year.

A new sport which received great appeal in '84 was the Wave. This sport was played in football stadiums across the United States; however, unlike football this game was played in the stands and involved the fans, not the athletes. No longer were fans suppose to just sit and idly watch the game. They were now required to participate by standing up and sitting down in an organized fashion. This gave the appearance of a wave running throughout the entire stadium audience.

Interesting Faces

People in 1984 experienced many personal triumphs and tragedies. Peter Uberroth, man of the year according to Time magazine, triumphed by orchestrating a successful, spellbinding Olympics in San Francisco. He provided the Olympic athletes and the world with a dazzling Hollywood-style production.

Another person who found this to be an eventful year was Princess Diana. She had her second son, Prince Harry. His birth was greeted with much excitement by all of England, not to mention the excitement of his proud father who was quoted as saying, "We've nearly got a polo team."

Unfortunately not everyone had an enjoyable year. In fact, several people were quite relieved to see the year end. For many people 1984 will be remembered as the year that Vanessa Williams, the first black Miss America, lost her crown, John Delorean was arrested for possession of cocaine, and Velma Barfield became the first woman since 1962 to be executed.

Advancements in Medicine

Many giant steps were taken in the field of medicine in 1984. This was the year in which William Schroeder became the second person to receive an artificial heart. He was quoted just thirty-six hours after his surgery as saying, "I'd like a beer."

Another step taken in medicine was greeted with much controversy. The placement of a baboon's heart into a human child caused mixed reaction throughout the nation. Some people felt that this was cruelty to animals. Others felt that this was the right thing to do if it could save the baby's life. One week after the transplant, Baby Fae died. The arguments and controversy, however, continued.

Music

Many musical performers found 1984 to be a successful, profitable year. Superstar, Michael Jackson, reunited with his brothers for the Jackson Victory Tour. This tour was received with much enthusiasm throughout the country and thus grossed an enormous amount of money. Prince rocketed to new heights after his hit movie and soundtrack, Purple Rain. His tour resulted in sellout crowds throughout the nation.

Bruce Springsteen retained his title as "The Boss" with his album, Born in the U.S.A. His world tour resulted in many disappointed fans who were unable to get tickets.

Several female performers also had a successful year. Newcomer, Madonna found overnight fame with her hit singles, "Borderline," "Lucky Star," and "Like a Virgin." Tina Turner experienced renewed

Famous rockstars also expressed their concern for humanity by collaborating to produce the Christmas song, "Feed the World." These stars joined together under the name of Band-Aid and all profits from their record sales were sent to help the starving people in Ethiopia. Rock singers such as Sting, Boy George, Phil Collins, Simon Le Bon, Paul Young, and Bob Geldof formed this group.

Movies

1984 was another great year for the film industries. Harrison Ford portrayed Indiana Jones in the sequel to Raiders of a Lost Ark, Temple of Doom. Stephen Spielberg produced another thriller, Gremlins. This movie dealt with cute little furry monsters who later appeared on everything from glasses to T-shirts. Kevin Bacon shot to stardom in Footloose which had an equally successful soundtrack.

Bill Murray, Dan Ackroyd, and Harold Ramis starred in the comedy hit of the year, Ghostbusters, a term which will live on for years to come. Prince's musical film, Purple Rain grossed an enormous sum at the box-office this year.

1984 also witnessed the emergence of Eddie Murphy's terrific ability as a comedian in Beverly Hills Cop.

The film industry was successful not only in the theaters but also in our own living rooms. Television movies attracted large audiences across the country. Movies such as The Day After informed the public of the horrible consequences a nuclear war might yield. Fatal Vision stunned audiences in 1984 by presenting the brutal MacDonald murders that took place in Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

National and International Affairs

Election year '84 was an exciting, eventful year. This was the year in which a local Senate race received national publicity. This Senate race, Hunt versus Helms, became notorious due to the enormous amounts of money which each candidate spent for campaigning. This same year Reagan won an overwhelming victory and was elected to his second term as President. Another interesting facet of politics '84 was the Democratic ticket. This was the first time in history that a woman, Geraldine Ferraro, ran for the Vice-Presidency on a major party ticket.

Other events on the national front were the restoration of the Statue of Liberty and the preparation for and American success stories of the '84 Olympics.

In the Olympics, many Americans brought home gold medals. Mary Lou Retton won not only a gold metal for gymnastic vaulting but also the hearts of many devoted fans. The men's gymnastic team was also successful in 1984, and brought home a team gold medal. American athletes achieved one gold medal after another as the American people watched and cheered.

On an international front, 1984 was not an entirely pleasurable year. This year will be remembered not only for its success stories but also for its tragedies.

In 1984 drought-stricken Ethiopia lost much of its population to starvation. In Bhopal, India, Union Carbide's gas leak killed over 2,500 people. Indira Ghandi was assassinated this year by her own Sikh guards. British Prime Minister, Margaret Thatcher, also had her life repeatedly threatened by terrorist attacks.

Therefore, 1984 was a year of contrasts. Both the good and the bad in humanity were displayed. Although it was hardly a perfect year, it was definitely an exciting year full of many achievements.

CHEERLEADERS

Beginning in the summer, the varsity cheerleaders practiced both at school and at Wake Forest Cheerleading Camp, where they received a trophy for the best in dance. They worked very hard at practicing traditional cheers and new dances to dazzle the crowd.

The varsity cheerleaders have enjoyed not only supporting the football and basketball teams, but also the soccer and cross country teams.

Other activities that they participated in were the Christmas parade, the Frank Spencer Classic, and the Follies.

The J.V. cheerleaders, selected in the fall, worked very hard at practice for football and basketball games, pep rallies, and the Christmas parade. They worked closely with the varsity cheerleaders for a fun year full of school spirit.

PEP BOARD COUNCIL

Pep Board Council, striving to promote spirit and enthusiasm among the students at Reynolds, supports all R.J.R. athletic teams. Some of the main tasks of Pep Board Council include decorating Victory Hall throughout the year to boost school spirit for all the sports. Selling programs at the Varsity football games to raise money for the athletic program and making beat'em tags for every player of all sports are a few of the other tasks that the Pep Board takes. This continuous spirit shows their dedication to Reynolds and sets an example for all the students.

SENIOR GIRLS SERVICE CLUB

The Senior Girls Service Club began the school year with sixteen "old seniors" working diligently together even before school began. During teacher work days the girls made cookies and brownies for the lounges to make the days more tolerable. At the Reynolds open house, members were present to aid or usher crowds of new students.

After the school year was in progress, SGSC resumed many projects and took on some new ones. The Carolina Streetscene Coke booths seemed the place to be among the thousands of Reynolds' students. Helping out at the Steven's center as ushers for various plays such as "The Nutcracker" ranked high on everyone's list of priorities.

SGSC also enjoyed supporting the successful men's soccer team by making banners and selling cokes. The most enjoyable aspect of this project was watching Reynolds win!

Many other services to the community became one important goal. The most challenging but rewarding activity took place every Saturday morning at the Samaritan Soup Kitchen. Some Saturday afternoons were spent doing yard work at the Halfway House (for homeless women). During the second half of the year the girls gave many hours during the week days at the YWCA working with young children at the after school program.

The club received seven new members early in the fall and began to work on the homecoming float. SGSC and their brother club SSC worked (and played) many nights to build the WINNING FLOAT! Just before Christmas new juniors were admitted in time to begin planning a Follies act, the major goal of the semester.

SENIOR SERVICE CLUB

The Senior Service Club is a group of young men dedicated to service and promotion of school spirit. These students work hard to improve Reynolds High School and the community. Projects such as the purchase and hanging of banners in the gym, maintenance of the SSC/SGSC courtyard, and the Thanksgiving can food drive help to make this club an outstanding organization. The purchase and distribution of beat'em tags for each football game are provided by the Senior Service Club. The diligence and persistence of this club is as Neil Young sings, "It's better to burn out, than to fade out."

GIRL'S COUNCIL

The members of Girl's Council pride themselves in making Reynolds and the community a better place. They accomplish this goal by working with organizations such as the International Reading Association, serving refreshments at the Reynolds Open House, and working Coke booths at the Carolina Streetscene.

Several of the members are involved in individual service projects such as coaching the Tiny Demon cheerleaders and a group at Summit School. Other projects include painting for needy women, and assisting their brother club Key Club with the annual can food drive.

KEY CLUB

Over the years Key Club has set the pace for all of the service clubs at Reynolds. Key Club's dedication to serving Reynolds and the community is proudly displayed through their participation with the Carolina Streetscene, S.E.C.C.A., the maintainence of Reynolds' campus and the Key Club court yard.

The Key Club shines Reynolds' black and gold even brighter with their annual Thanksgiving Canned Food Drive which has gained national recognition for collecting over 20,000 cans; and the annual Key Club Follies, the largest high school production in the Southeast, raising over $5000 for Reynolds. Continuing their tradition of excellence, Key Club's International theme of "Manhours for Mankind" shows that the members of Reynolds' Key Club are "people serving people."

DEMON GIRL'S SERVICE SOCIETY

The Demon Girls' Service Society is a club whose purpose is to provide service to our school as well as the community. In return, a close friendship is formed among the members. Each girl contributes her time and effort to keep DGSS an active club at Reynolds. They worked closely this year with their brother club, Junior Civitans.

DGSS participated in many service projects including: faculty teas, a foster child, campus clean-ups, Christmas caroling to the elderly, and the canned food drive.

JUNIOR CIVITANS

The purpose of the Civitans is to serve the school and community and help promote school spirit in any way possible. Some projects include working at the Streetscene, cleaning up the school, selling Demon cups, and maintaining the sidewalk. The Civitans try to maintain a balance between work and pleasure in interacting with their sister club, DGSS. They both try to live up to their motto, "Let the Good Times Roll."

REYNOLDS GIRLS' CLUB

Reynolds Girls' Club is a service organization composed of ambitious young women who set high standards for themselves, their school, and their community.

RGC has collected food for Crisis Control, aided Street Scene, ushered for The Little Theatre, and sponsored a child for the past several years. Additionally, RGC has worked a great deal with the Kidney Foundation.

The most beneficial result of RGC is the spirit given to the school and the lasting friendship that is gained between each member.

REYNOLDS' SERVICE CLUB

The purpose of Reynolds' Service Club is to better serve their school and community through work projects, school related activities, and other promotions. With their sponsor, Greg Sims, the members work closely together in a relaxed atmosphere for a better school and community. Since its establishment in 1983, RSC has carried out the school spirit with pride.

RSC participated in homecoming, spirit week, the annual canned good drive, campus clean-ups, and an aluminum can collection project.

LADY DEMON'S SERVICE CLUB

Lady Demon Service Club was formed during the spring of 1984. Established to comply with a need for a new girls' service club, LDSC has become a hardworking force of young ladies. They have participated in the Streetscene, clean-ups at school, and activities for various non-profit organizations. The purpose of the club is to make new friends and to serve the school and community. The Lady Demons achieved their goal of participation and service throughout the year.

ANCHOR CLUB

The Anchor Club's purpose is to provide the school and community with a service club that is willing to work hard for a good cause. The Anchor Club also provides its members with unique and exciting experiences. They believe that life should be lived to its fullest.

The AK worked with several non-profit organizations, but they also devoted much attention to social activities such as the trip to North Myrtle Beach, the Halloween costume party, and the mountain picnic. The main idea is to work and play hard. The Anchor Club is a club devoted to service for Reynolds High School and the community, while providing an enriching environment for its members.

LEO'S CLUB

Leo's Club is a service organization that is composed of many devoted members. Its top priority is being dedicated to serving the community and improving the school. Participation in the canned food drive for Crisis Control, cleaning up the school, planting trees, building a homecoming float, holding car washes, and selling Christmas carnations are among the number of activities that the members of Leo's Club participate. This club has actively worked at promoting school spirit and forming many long-lasting friendships.

EBONY SOCIETY

The Ebony Society offers Black students the opportunity to become more involved in their school and community. It serves as an outlet of expression of Black heritage and tradition. The goal of the Ebony Society is to enrich the experience of high school for Reynolds' Black student body.

For years, Reynolds has been proud of having service clubs that work actively in the school and the community. These clubs are also great opportunities to get involved at Reynolds. Each service club at Reynolds as always taken in juniors, but this year, service clubs opened their doors to sophomores. Junior and sophomore inductions helped boost spirit in the clubs as well as at Reynolds.

FRESHMAN SOPHOMORE SERVICE CLUB

This year at Reynolds, the year began as it had every year, with only juniors and seniors involved. The freshmen and sophomores were not allowed in service clubs and did not feel involved. Freshman-Sophomore Service Club was started to help solve this problem.

Like many of the upper classmen clubs, FSSC boosts the spirit of Reynolds because of involvement in the school. Providing service for the community and school keeps this enthusiastic club going.

Elected in the fall by the Senior Class, the Senior Class officers are responsible for planning graduation. By spring the Senior Class officers have planned Class Day and have decided on a speaker for the graduation ceremony.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

EXECUTIVE BOARD

The Executive Board is the highest form of government at Reynolds. The Executive Board keeps a watchful eye on the Honor Court, the Inter-Club Council, and the Student Council. The Board also plans important events for the school to be carried out by the other branches of government.

SENIOR STEERING COMMITTEE

Because of the reorganization of the school system, Student Council officers were not elected until fall. This left the school without a governing body so a group of students were selected to guide the Student Council over the summer. The committee revised the Constitution, planned for elections, and helped teachers with reorganization.

"The Reynolds Student Council's main purpose is to serve the student and faculty," says Julie Sale. With the aid of Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. Simpson, and the other officers, Julie brings the council together to plan events for the school. "This year the Student Council sponsored the Drug and Alcohol Awareness Week, The Spirit Week, Teacher and Faculty Appreciation Projects, the Christmas and Valentine Dances, the New Student program, and many other important projects.

"It is important for the students to work together to plan projects for their school; this is what keeps Reynolds the best."

Sponsored by Mrs. Rash, the Senior Executive Committee collects and distributes information about graduation through a representative elected in each homeroom.

Hugh Roberts, a member of the committee, said, "It's really a lot of hard work. We have to get information from every senior in the school about graduation, plan the graduation ceremony, and do things such as tallying the votes for the yearbook dedication."

HONOR COURT

Reynolds' Honor Court believes that through every circumstance, justice will prevail. Justice is served by the Court to students who have been accused of cheating, lying, gambling, or commiting forgery.

"The Court has done an excellent job in keeping the students of in order," said the chief judge Cedric Brown. After breaking the Honor Code and being sentenced to hard work after school, students soon find that they can never out smart the law.

The Court meets as often as necessary to hear cases and sentence the defendant. The Honor Court is committed to serving justice for all.

INTER-CLUB COUNCIL

The Inter-Club Council is the governing body over all clubs and organizations at Reynolds. The council, sponsored by Mr. Deaton, consists of a member from each club.

Brian Renfro, chairman of the council, said, "The Inter-Club Council's main purpose is to prevent club activities and projects from being duplicated so that events will run smoothly. The Council makes major recommendations about new clubs and what to do with clubs that are not performing as they should. These recommendations are then presented to the Executive Board for approval."

DANCE CLUB

The Dance Club is an association seriously dedicated to dancing. These students practice once a week. Their diligent practicing shows the members of this club how hard it is to become a professional, like the professional dancers and actors these students saw in Cats, a Broadway musical, when they took a trip to New York in April. The Dance Club is doing an excellent job fulfilling a need at Reynolds for the expression of art through dance.

PEP BOARD

The Pep Board was formed by the Pep Board Council to support the junior varsity sports. The group represents each homeroom and maintains bulletin boards in each homeroom to inform students about school happenings. The Pep Board also makes banners for the cafeteria, decorates Victory Hall, and sells programs at games. The Pep Board is an excellent example of the Reynolds school spirit.

BAND

The Marching Band gives Reynolds spirit throughout football season, and they have done it superbly this year. Working with the cheerleaders and the crowd, the band gives the games a real feeling of Demon spirit to get the crowd rowdie.

When the football season ends, practice for the concert band begins. They practice every day during class and some days after school to prepare for concerts and special events, such as the governor's inauguration.

Reynolds also has a few small musical groups. One of these is the jazz ensemble, who practices all year for special performances. Other groups are the brass choir, woodwind groups, duets, and soloists.

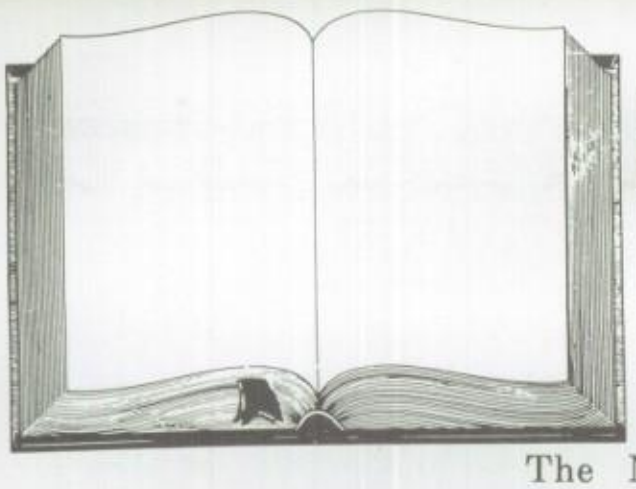
BAND



The National Honor Society chapter at Reynolds High School was organized in 1922 as the Alpha Chapter. The high school honor society serves two purposes: to recognize and honor those students who have excelled on character, scholarship, leadership, and service; and to bring them together as a group in order that they may carry out specific ways of promoting these four ideals throughout the entire student body.

In 1951, permission was granted to change the name to the Brevard Hoover Chapter of R.J. Reynolds High School. This was done in memory of one of its most outstanding members, for in his brief life, he exemplified the high ideals of the society.

LATIN CLUB

The Latin Club continues its exploration of Roman life under the excellent supervision of Mrs. Thrower, the Salem College Language Day Teacher of the Year. The Latin Club held a cena, a Roman dinner, in December to celebrate Saturnalia, an ancient Roman holiday.

The club contains members of all levels of Latin classes. "It's a great way to have underclassmen work with upperclassmen," said one senior. The Latin Club is an extension of the Latin program for any students who wish to learn more about ancient Rome and to have fun.

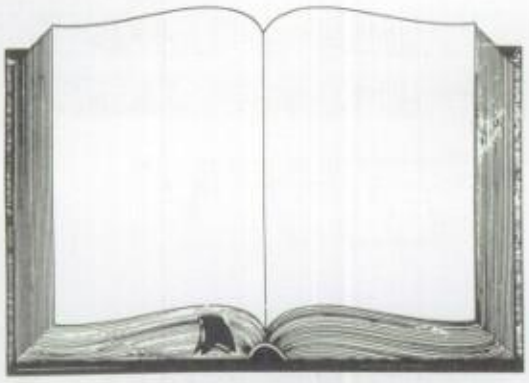
"In German Club, we learn more about the German culture," Jason Buss said. The club has met for dinner at Mr. Dunderbach's to sample authentic German food. "So much of Germany has come to America, especially here with the Moravian settlement. This is what we're in this club to learn about," Brad Davis commented. For German students, this club has been an extension of their German studies. They are the smallest language club, but that has not stopped them from working as a team with Miss Rowe as captain.



FRENCH HONOR SOCIETY

The French Club and the French Honor Society both offer students further learning of the French language and culture. The French Club is open to all students who take French. One of their favorite activities is indulging in French cuisine. This club promotes and helps teach the students about French cultures and foods. Michelle Straka, who is the secretary, says, "In the French Club we try to expand the member's interest and enthusiasm toward the French Club."

The French Honor Society has many activities that help their members learn more about the language. One of these is having guest speakers. It is a great honor for a member of the French Club to be inducted into this organization.

SPANISH HONOR SOCIETY

The Spanish Club is for all interested students who take Spanish. Some of their activities include having potluck dinners and guest speakers. Suzy Greeson, who is the president, recalls one of the main activities this year as a soccer game against the French Club.

The students in the Spanish Honor Society devote their time to a better understanding of the language. It is considered a great honor for a Spanish student to be inducted into this club. Their main activity is enjoying Spanish food.

COMPUTER AND MATH CLUB

The Reynolds Computer and Math Club is geared toward students who are interested in a career working with computers. Members are given an opportunity to work with the computers more often than in class.

This year, with Reynolds getting new Macintosh computers in the middle of the year, these students have been able to learn several types of computer "languages."

SPEECH AND DEBATE

The purpose of the Speech and Debate team is to learn to speak effectively and to organize ideas skillfully. The team travels throughout the state participating in high school competitions. Each year a state-wide tournament is hosted by the team for members of the Tarheel Forensics League.

HIGH IQ

The High IQ team participates in televised matches with other schools throughout the school system. During a match, questions are asked in the areas of math, current events, English, social studies, science, and general information. The first question is a "toss-up" and the team that answers this question receives a chance to answer a bonus question. This procedure continues for two ten-minute periods, and at the end of the two periods, the score is tallied and the team with the highest score wins.

FACULTY PAGES

These pages and assistants volunteer their free time to assist the guidance staff, office staff, librarian staff, and gym teachers. If you ever need any information or help, ask these assistants. They file, take phone messages, type, sort mail, run errands, and keep track of gym suits and locks.

Future Business Leaders of America is a national organization for all high school students participating in business and office programs. Its purpose is to provide an integral part of the instructional program and to develop vocational competency as well as promote civic and personal responsibility. The goals of the organization include developing competent aggressive business leadership, strengthening the confidence of students themselves and their work.

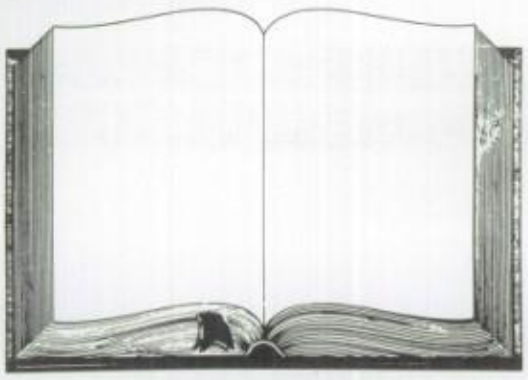
The Vocational Industrial Co-Operative Association is a group of students who hold jobs outside school. Being a member of VICA allows the student to leave school early in order to work. This way the member becomes acquainted with the working world before he graduates. Todd Butler, a member of VICA said, "This club has stressed the responsibility of holding a job and of being responsible in handling money."



FFA

Future Farmers of America was formed in 1928 for students preparing for careers in the agricultural industry. The emphasis of the organization is on the development of leadership skills and a love for the country.

Bob Severs, Vice President of FFA, stated, "FFA teaches you quite a bit about the environment and the world around us. We study things such as soil erosion and land formations."

DECA

The Distributive Education Clubs of America is an organization in which the students can earn while they learn. In addition to earning money and credits in Marketing and Distributive Education, the students gain more experience in leadership, citizenship, community awareness and vocational understanding. Their mottos is "A job well done."

Some of DECA's projects are visiting senior citizens, setting up fair exhibits, and participating in competitive levels of local, district, and state events.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The American Industrial Arts Student Association was the first club in the state, and their charter is number ten nationally. Their activities include listening to speakers, taking field trips when possible, and learning about new fields of industry. To help promote school spirit, they have sold license plates and stickers for car windows, displaying the school name and mascot.

AIASA holds an annual toy drive around Christmas to help the underpriviledged children of the community. They sponsor the Scott Thrasher trophy for the most outstanding wrestler. The Industrial Arts Club lets these young men receive their first introduction into the industrial world.

BUSDRIVERS

The Reynolds Bus drivers work hard during the school year earning credit for transporting students to and from school. Busdriving is a difficult job which requires commitment of time and lost sleep. As a class and a club, the bus drivers acquire valuable experience while assuming much responsibility for the passengers' safety.

ORCHESTRA

The Orchestra students are very dedicated in their work. Orchestra is open to all grades. These members practice once a week as a group, but are expected to practice on their own and come prepared for class. Mrs. Raper, the instructor, makes the hard work fun and exciting. All year they prepare for concerts, solos, and the State Contest Festival in April.

ART SOCIETY

The Art Society is the creative section of Reynolds' extracurriculars. The members of the Society satisfy their artistic instincts by both creating their own art and visiting the art of others, in places like Reynolds House and SECCA. Although the group is small, it contains much talent to share with Reynolds High School.

JROTC consists of several different clubs to help high school students experience military training. There are the Reynolds Raiders, the Color Guard, the Drill Team, and the Rifle Team.

The Raiders participate in adventure training activities such as whitewater rafting, mountaineering, and camping. The Color Guard presents the National Colors at Reynolds sports events and special JROTC meetings. The Drill Team practices many hours to achieve perfection in the precision military drill. They learn the regulation drill both with and without a rifle. The Rifle Team contains only the best marksmen of the Corps of Cadets, and the members practice regularly to polish their riflery skills. All of the clubs combine to give Reynolds a well-trained corps of dedicated students.

RPGC

The Role Playing Games Club at Reynolds is a club that provides an opportunity for those students who have an interest in playing games that require group performing. Similar to dungeon and dragon games, the role-playing games are geared toward those with creative minds and dramatic talents.

AUDITORIUM STAFF

The Auditorium Staff is a very vital group of students responsible for all the behind-the-scenes work of the stage. During pep rallies, assembles, the Follies, and Class Day, these students work diligently. They are responsible for operating lights, coordinating music, pulling curtains, and managing the stage in general. Their success is greatly dependant on the mutual trust between the staff and performers.

PINE WHISPERS

After a year's absence, the newspaper Pine Whispers is making a welcomed return! The newspaper staff records the student life at Reynolds throughout the year with its six issues filled with everything from editorials to sports and features. The staff has supported their venture back into publication to carry on a sixty year old tradition of quality by selling ads, Valentines messages, doughnuts, subscriptions, and by receiving donations. Through the efforts of the Pine Whispers staff, the newspaper has achieved its previous level of excellence.

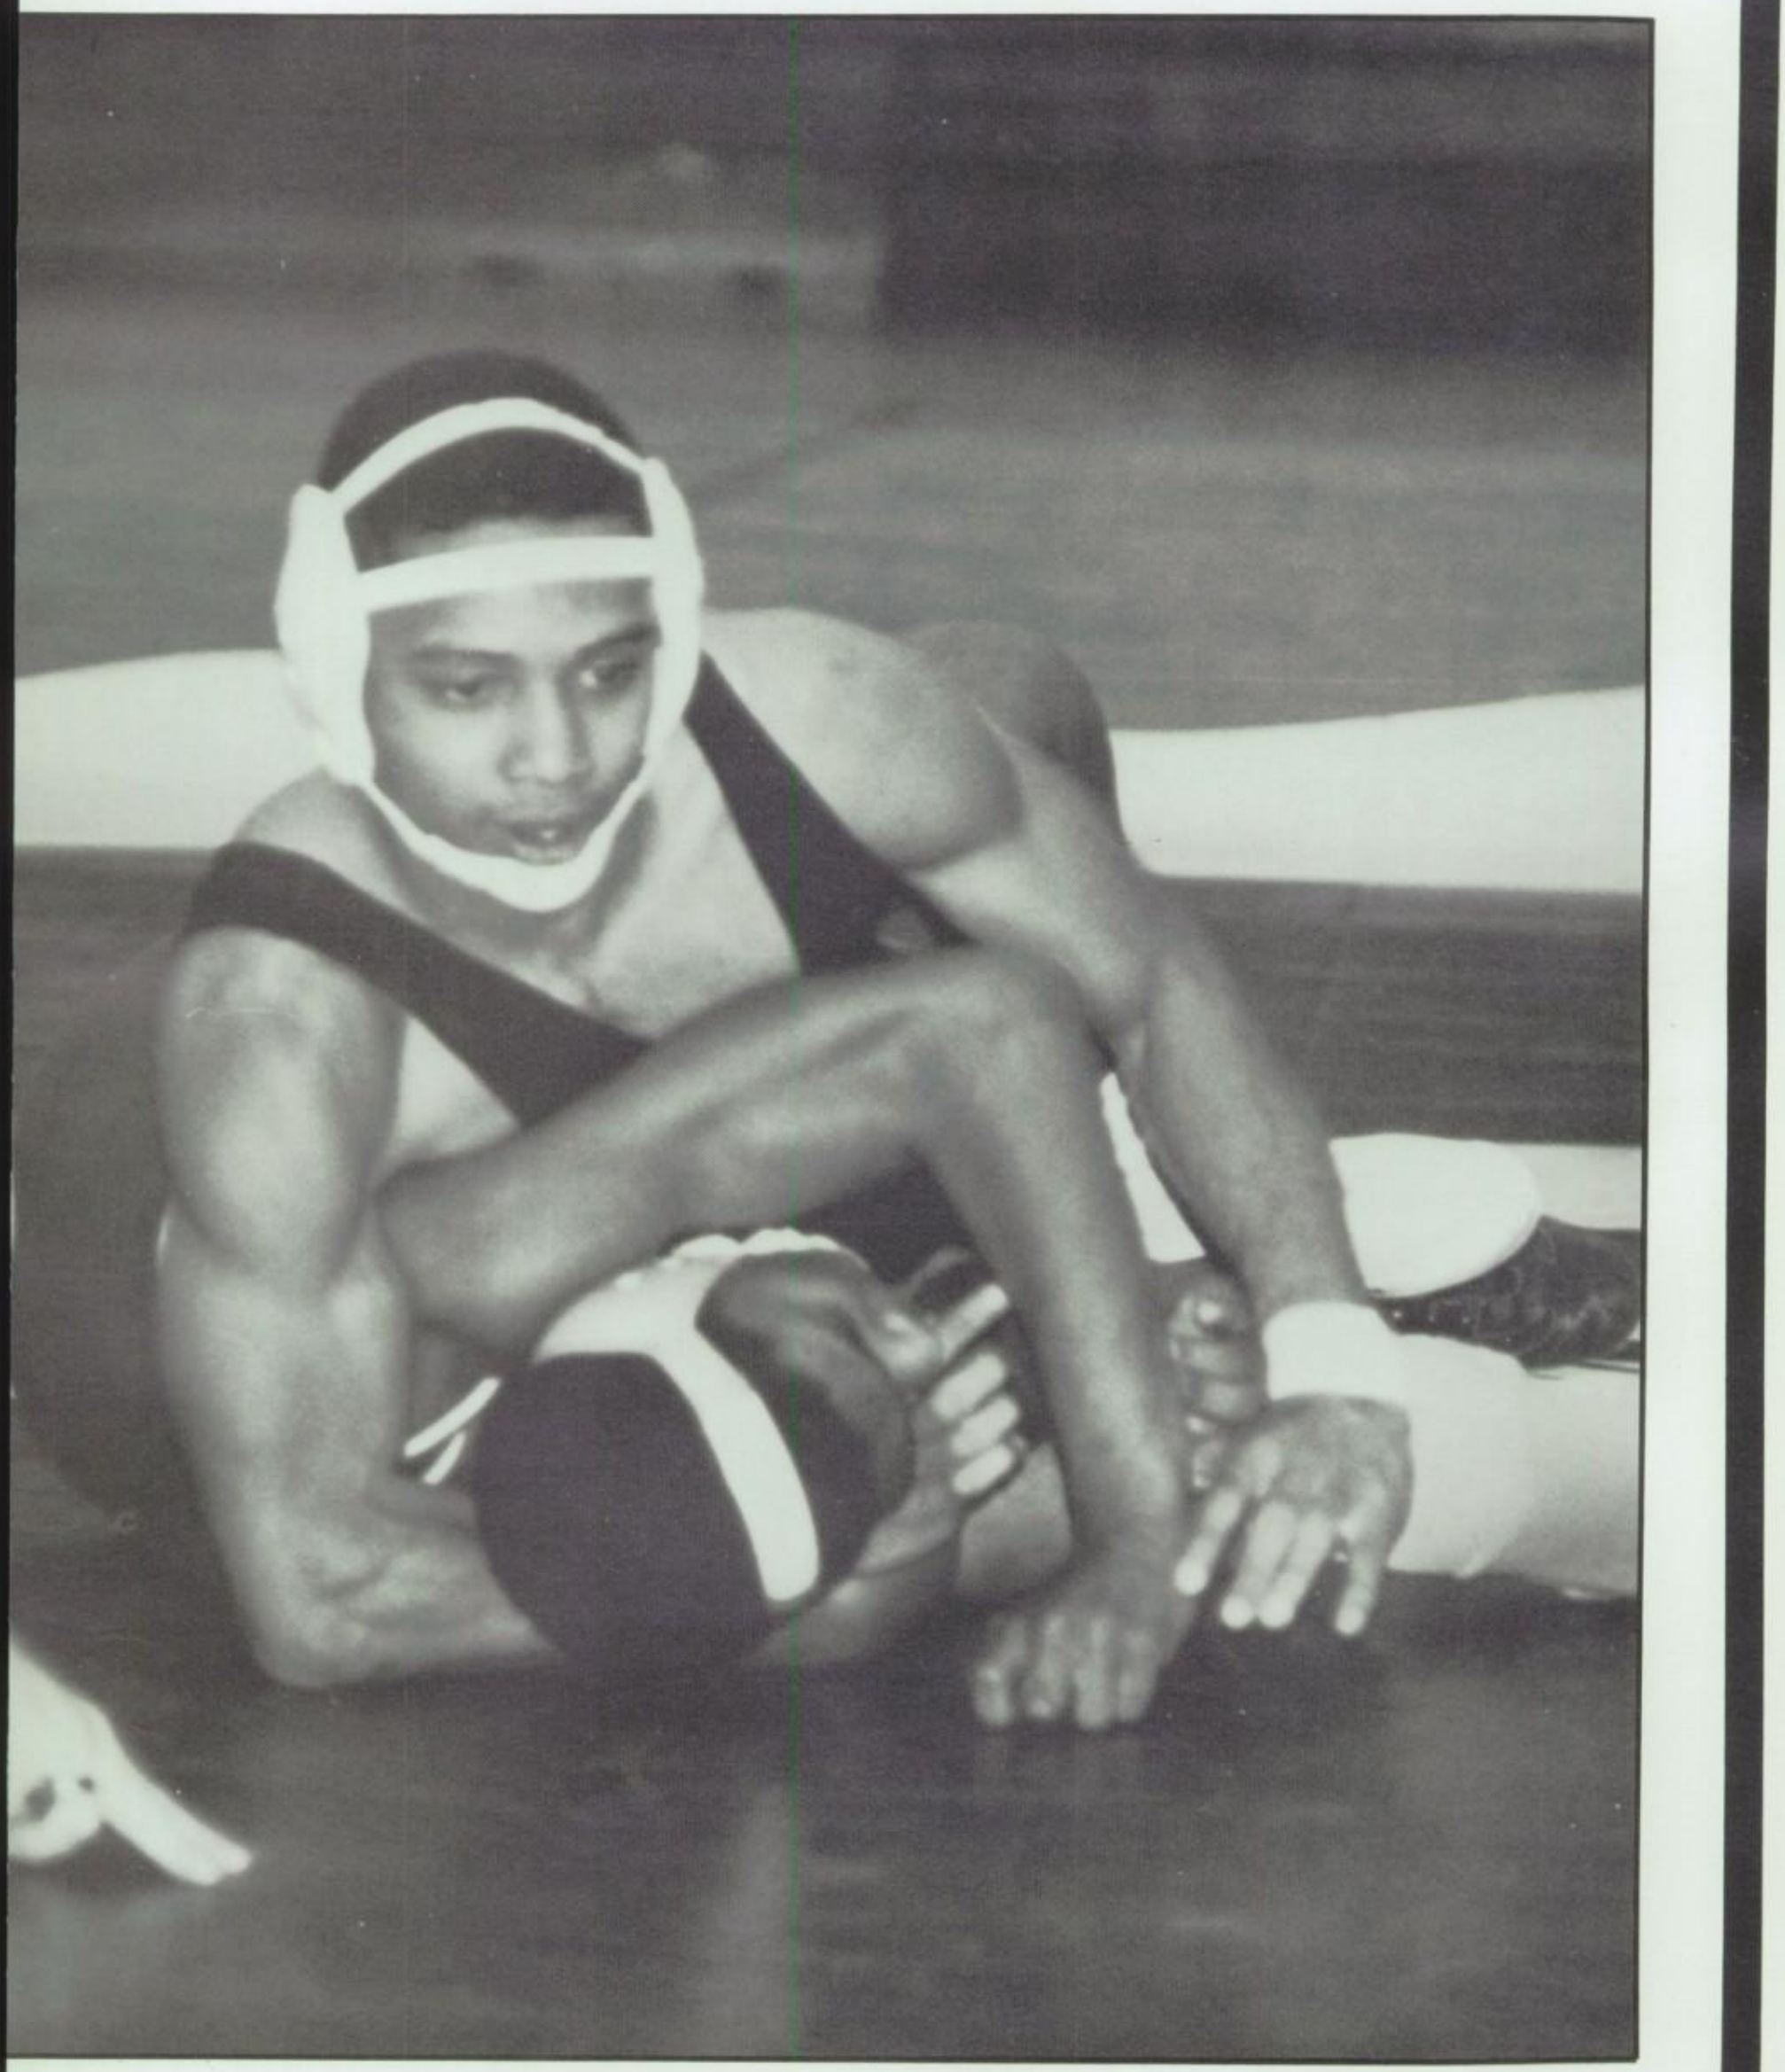
PEOPLE IN SPORTS

The four-year plan brought about many changes in the athletic department. Varsity competition developed while junior varsity teams formed to prepare and learn for the future.

Girls' tennis, cross country, and boys' soccer were all involved in state championships. Many other teams engaged in conference championships, city titles, and just plain fun!

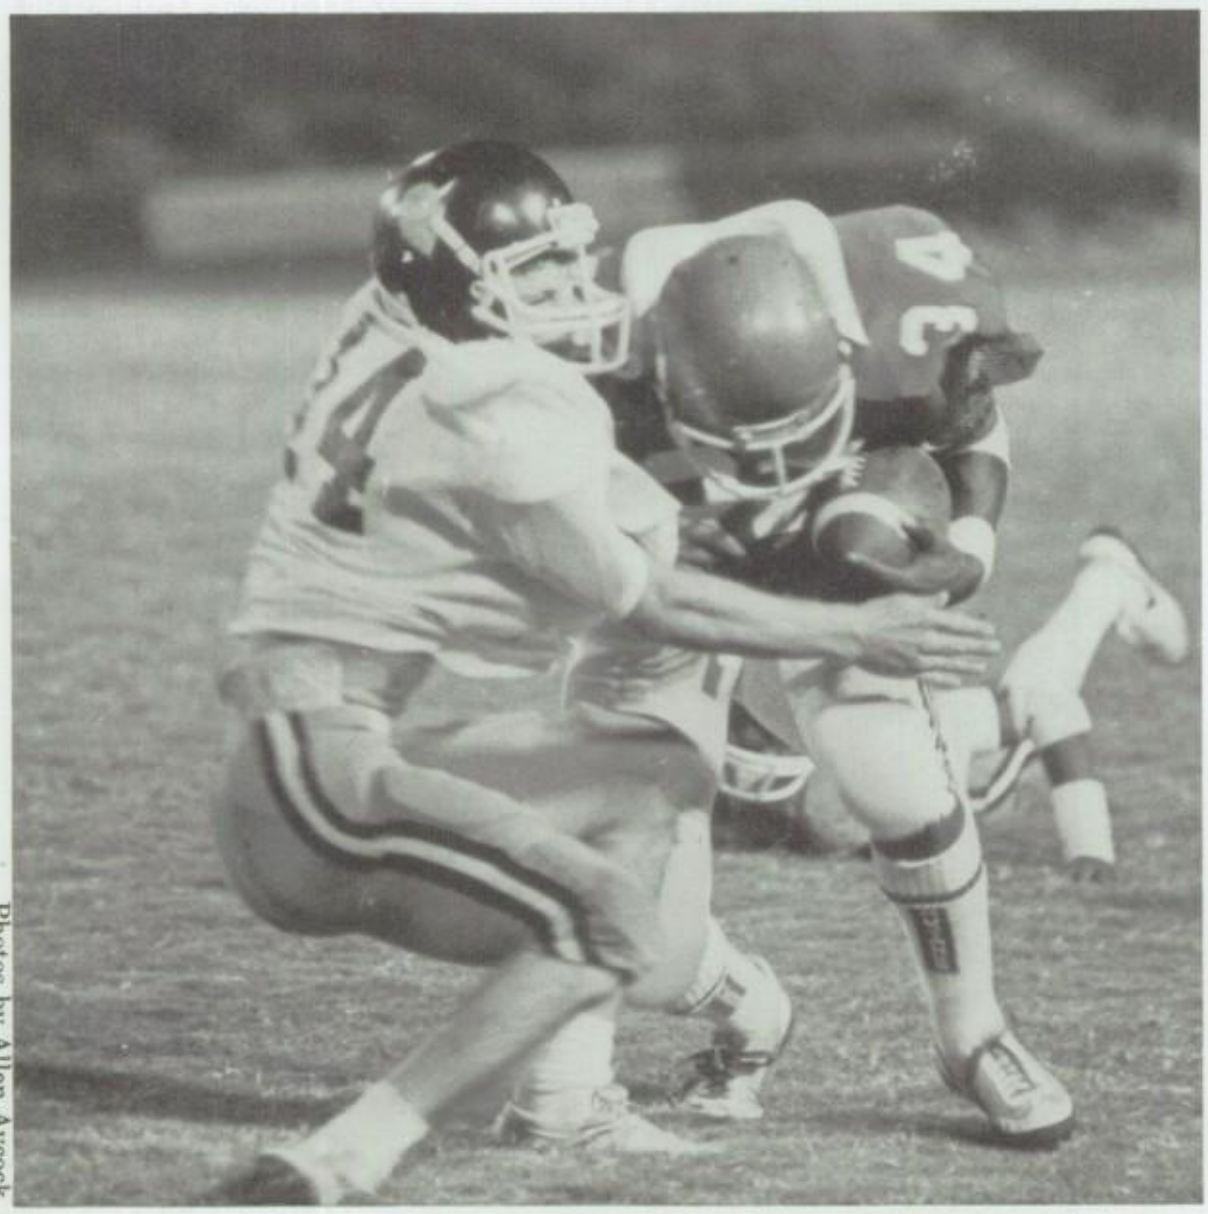


FOOTBALL

Opening the season on August 31, the Reynolds Demon football team was not expected to have a good season. Some sportscasters predicted that Reynolds would not have a single victory. But they proved the critics wrong and almost came through with a winning season. Having lost most of his key players, Coach Crater entered the season with one of the smallest teams he has ever had.

Reynolds started the season with a shocking victory over West, blasting the Titans 28-12. This victory, gave Reynolds the confidence they needed for the new season.

In the second home game, Reynolds hosted Greensboro Grimsley at Bowman Gray. Unfortunately, time ran out on the Demons and the Whirlees came away with a 21-13 win.



Photos by Allen Aycock

In the third game the Demons decided to attempt a victory over Davie County and tried a two-point conversion following the touchdown. The attempt failed, and David squeeked by Reynolds with a 14-13 win.

In the next game, Reynolds displayed their offensive power overwhelming South Stokes 35-8. The win evened the Demons' record at 2-2.

Reynolds then hosted their crosstown rival Parkland for an exciting yet upsetting game. Parkland took home the victory by a 21-14 win.

Demons moved to Smith for an important conference confrontation. Our explosive offense put a sudden damper on the homecoming events of the evening. The Demon offense was led by Troy Gurkin who threw two touchdowns on route to a 28-14 victory.

Photos by Allen Aycock

Reynolds rose to the occasion for the Homecoming game by defeating the High Point Central Bison 27-0. Two touchdown receptions by Scott Faircloth and two touchdown rushes from the fullback spot by James Combs highlighted the evening.

Demons played the top-ranked Page Pirates to a surprisingly close game of 21-7. Page scored early in the game, but they were sharply halted by a Demon touchdown by Scott Faircloth. A strong defensive effort continued to hold Page until the last seconds of the game.

The North game turned out to be a heartbreaker for the Demons. The teams battled back and forth most of the game, but late in the fourth quarter Reynolds found themselves down 14-10. Reynolds staged a fantastic drive which put them in scoring position. Time ran out on the Demons when quarterback Troy Gurkin was sacked on the final play.

The season ended on a sour note because of the lack of offensive power by the Demons. The defense managed the only score of the game by producing a safety in the first halt. The Demons lost 14-2.

Although the Demons did not have a winning season, they still managed to exceed most peoples' expectations.

The Junior Varsity football season left much to be desired. The change to a four-year high school left the J.V. football team with a young squad which proved to be a disadvantage, considering that many of our opponents had eleventh graders on their team because they had no varsity squad. The J.V. team defeated West, tied Parkland, and lost to the other five opponents. Some standouts on the team were Calvin Carson, Kearns Davis, and Charles Irvin.

The Reynolds soccer program, becoming one of the finest in the state, continued to their first conference championship with an upset of highly-ranked Page. Page hosted the Demons first and were defeated 2-1 in an excellent defensive effort. Page was quickly bombarded by two Demon goals, but quick retaliation by the Pirates resulted in a 2-2 tie.

The Demons on the legs of Stewart Wall scored the decisive goal in the last minute to insure a 3-2 victory. These two conference wins put the Demons on top with a 17-0 record with just two games left to play and the conference title in their clutches.

The North game turned into a decisive 3-1 victory for the Demons to push them one step closer to the title. The elimination of East, on the final day of the season, sent the undefeated Demons to the first round of the State playoffs.

Mount Tabor, the next opponent and conference 10 champs, had lost their first game to Reynolds 3-0, and this night was to be no different. The game, scoreless in the first half, was broken up by a long sharp blow by Duncan McInnes that went past the goalie into the corner. This was all the Demons needed, Brad Davis defending the Demon goal.

The next opponent, South Irdell, waiting in the wings, was halted 2-0 in the cold night air. Hickory, one of the two teams left, had a high-powered offense that posed a serious threat to our unbeaten record. This threat quickly deteriorated with a 4-2 stomping that sent the local team toward Raleigh.

The State Championship was within grasp, but Sanderson, one of the best teams in the country, quickly had the Demons down 2-0. The Demons, on the defensive most of the game, couldn't muster a goal, but lost in a gallant effort 5-0. The 1984-85 season will be remembered as another conference championship to Society Hill.

GIRLS TENNIS

What can be said about the girls' tennis team that hasn't already been said? On their way to the state championship and an undefeated regular season, the team demolished opponents like High Point Central, East Forsyth and Parkland. Greensboro Page was the only team that proposed a threat to the team, but the Demons defeated Page twice during the regular season.

The team was led this year by stand-out Spencer Barnes, who won the sectional, regional, and state singles championships. Keira and Jenny Mountjoy made an almost unstopable doubles team, placing first in the sectionals and third in the regionals, and had a strong showing in the state tournament, enabling the Demons to defeat South Mecklenburgh for the state championship.

Other seeded players included Stephanie Harper, Amy Messick, and Joanie Lacy.

VOLLEYBALL

One team at Reynolds that should not have been taken lightly is the Reynolds Volleyball team. The team, which was coached by Mrs. Linda Zink and Miss Ashley Atkins, finished the season with a 5-9 record. This year's record was much better than last year when the team finished the season with only one win.

The Reynolds Volleyball team defeated Carver, Mount Tabor twice and Page twice and lost to East, High Point Central, and North.

The team was led by captains Monica Gamble, Kate Holt, and Sandi Linville, The other members of the team were Willie Mae Davis, Gina Howard, Dollie Loyd, Nancy Woollard, Dawn Phrarorachith, Georgi Satterfield, Elizabeth Goode, Kathleen Johnston, Gretchen Smith, Tonya Smith, and Toni Stone. The managers of the team were Regina Samuels, Amie Daniels, and Lisa Sherrod.

CROSS COUNTRY

The cross country team was led by Hunter Lambeth, Rodney Williams, Mike Rustad, Michelle Rustad, and Glen Mays. The co-ed team, coached by Norman Trzaskoma, dominated all of their meets and finished the season 9-0. The captains of the team were Kit Chope, Matt Andronica and Lisa Sisk.

In the City Championship, Mike Rustad took first place, Hunter Lambeth took second place, and Rodney Williams took third place. Reynolds placed first overall.

The Sectionals were also led by Mike Rustad. He took first place and once again, Reynolds placed first overall.

In the State Meet, the team improved over last year and took third place. Mike Rustad finished the season by taking tenth place for Reynolds.

BASKETBALL

The basketball team was an unexpected bright spot in this year's winter sports program. After the loss of several team members last year, two of this year's seniors took on a challenge of leadership for the team. Kenny Mickens and Kevin MacMillian were the captains that brought the Demons together and made what was a fair basketball team into a strong contender for the conference championship.

The Demons season got off to a good start by winning the first game by default to High Point Andrews. The Demons continued victorious for the next four basketball games. Teams falling to the Demons were the Demons' arch rivals, the Mount Tabor Spartans, the West Forsyth Titans, and the South Stokes Sauras. A 4-0 record going into the Frank Spencer tournament gave the Demons the confidence to roll over Mount Tabor in the first game of the tournament.

On the next night, the Demons lost their first game of the season to the team that went on to capture the title, the North Forsyth Vikings. Regrouping the next night, the Demons beat East Forsyth and continued their winning tradition. The Demons finished the Frank Spencer tournament with a record of 6-1 and won third place in the tournament.

With a good showing in the tournament, the Demons returned home to prepare for the upcoming conference play. The Demons had a three game home stand in which they beat High Point Andrews and then lost a heartbreaker to Parkland. Rolling over West Forsyth with a decisive victory, the Demons won the next three games in a row, including a revenging win against Parkland.

BASKETBALL

Holding a record of 12-2 entering into the most critical part of their season, the conference games began with Greensboro Smith which became another win to go into the Demons' win column. The Demons won the next two games against High Point Central and the always tough Page Pirates.

In the next meeting between Reynolds and the Vikings of North Forsyth, the Demons came so close of upsetting the perfect record of no losses by only four points. The Demons fought back from that narrow loss and struck back, winning their next two games against East Forsyth and Greensboro Smith. The Demons then befell some rough times losing three games in a row to High Point Central, Greensboro Page and the North Forsyth Vikings. The Demons finished their season by eliminating the East Forsyth Eagles by a twelve point victory.

The outstanding record of 17-6 is a fine show of the team coming together for the 84-85 basketball season and putting all of their best efforts into continuing the winning tradition that is held by the R.J. Reynolds Demons.

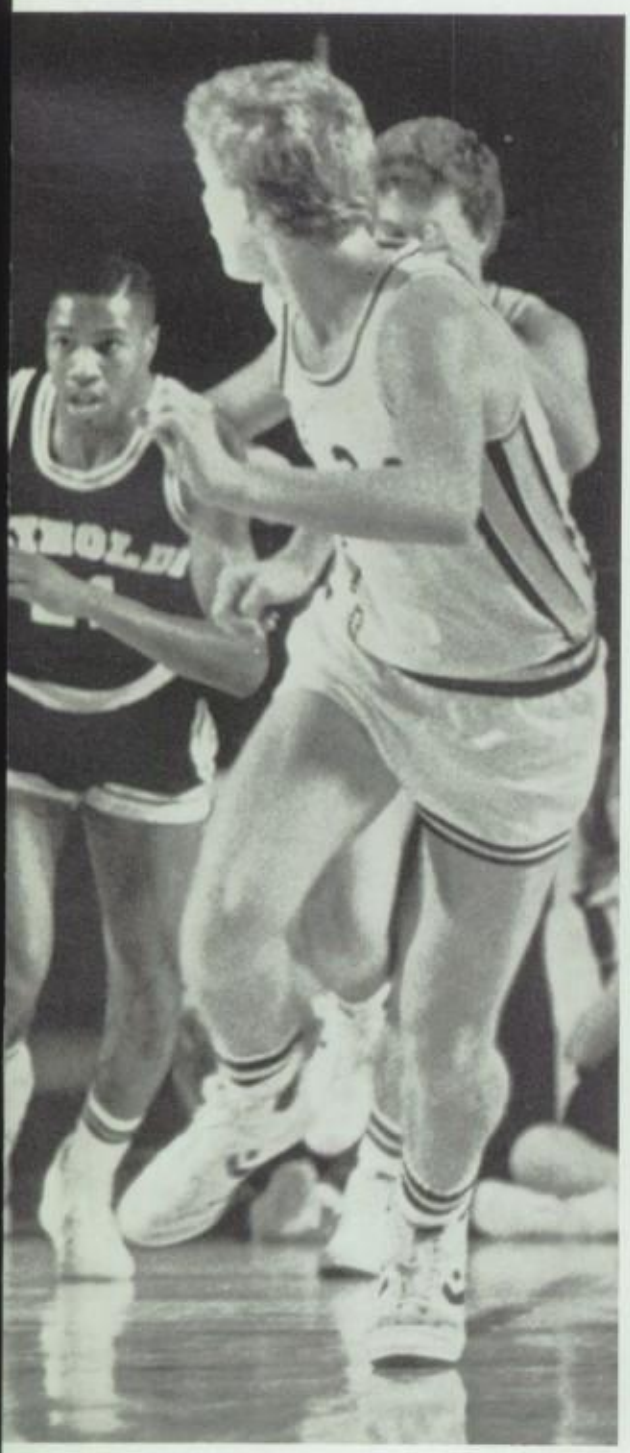
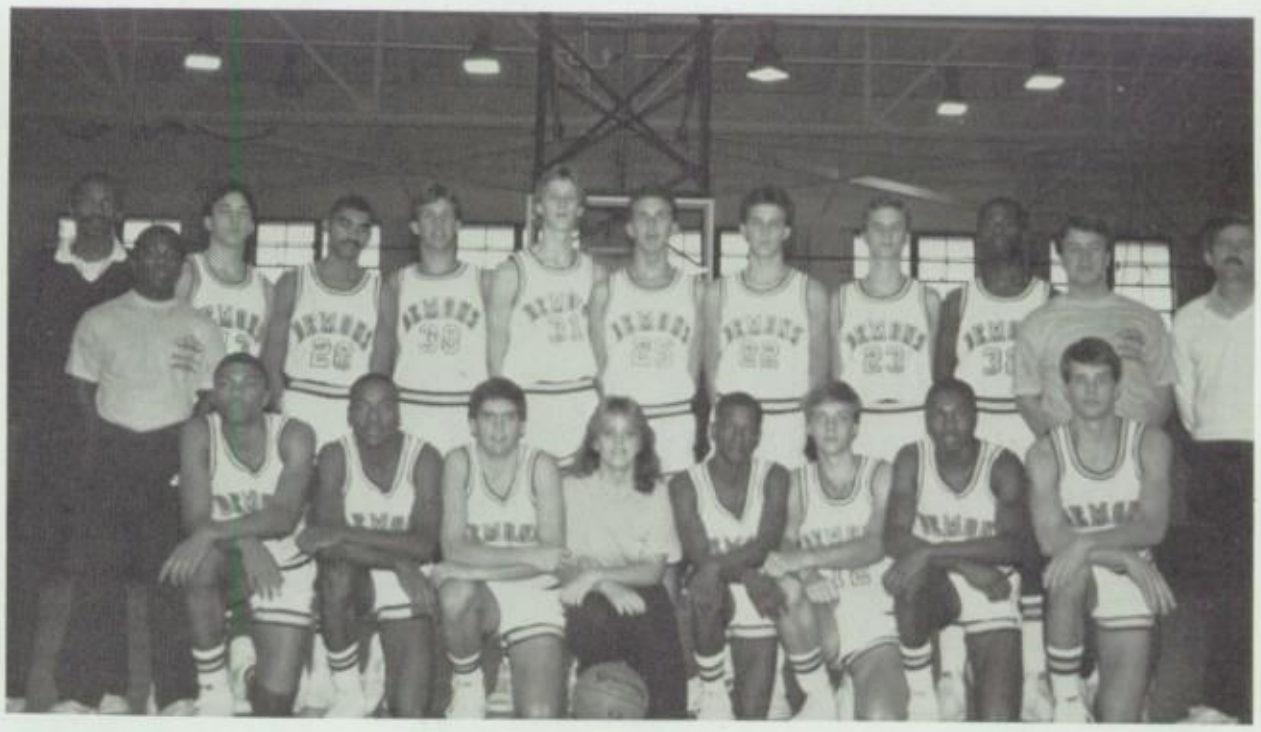
BASKETBALL





GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The Reynolds girls' basketball team got off to an excellent start by winning their first games of the season. The team was powered by senior Shelia Morris's scoring and Sandi Linville's rebounding. Joley White, Eli Lang, and Nancy Woollard all came off the beach to spark the Demons to several victories; however, the sudden loss of Shelia Morris to injury placed a heavy burden on the rest of the team. As a result Coach Kindle and her girls played hard and gained more experience in order to insure an excellent outlook for the future.

WRESTLING

The wrestling team had a rough season mainly because of "youth and inexperience," according to Coach Crater. The team's record this year was four wins, nine losses, and one tie. Reynolds' wins came against West Forsyth, Forbush, Greensboro Page, and Smith. They tied West in their second meeting.

The highlight of the season was probably the performance of Rodney Williams. He was selected to go to the state tournament in the 115 pound class. With a little experience, next year's team should be greatly improved.

SWIMMING

Throughout the years Reynolds has always had a great swim team. This year was no exception. The defending state champs finished the season 13-3.

The boys' team opened the season with a loss to Grimsley but came back to beat Central and Carver in the next meet. The Demons defeated both Page and Parkland with first places going to Jeff Dalton, Jim Meister, Tom Brodman, Marty Debruhl, David Wood, and Tom Walters.

In the second meeting with Grimsley and Parkland, Reynolds lost to Grimsley but beat Parkland for the second time in the season. First place victories were taken by Jim Meister and Eric Nichols.

When Reynolds met with Page and Carver in the last meet of the season. Reynolds came out on top. First place victories went to Glynn Boze, Tom Brodman, Guy Knox, Marty Debruhl, Jim Meister, David Wood, Tom Walters, Jeff Dalton and Steve Tanis.

In the Conference meet, which lasted eleven hours, Reynolds placed second overall. First place victories went to Jim Meister, Marty Debruhl, Tom Brodman, Jeff Dalton and Guy Knox.

Tom Walters, Jim Meister, Tom Brodman, Jeff Dalton, Marty Debruhl, and Guy Knox competed in the Eastern Seaboard Swimming and Diving Championship. There were teams from schools from Maine to Florida. Reynolds placed fourth out of thirty-eight teams. Jim Meister took first place in the butterfly, making him an Eastern Seaboard champion.

The girls' swim team, which was led by Kate Holt, Anjie Spencer, Kim Hance, Jenny Laskey and Jill Laskey, finished the season 8-8. The girls' team beat Parkland but lost to Page with Jill Laskey taking first place. The girls placed sixth in the Conference meet.

In the Conference meet, the divers added twenty-one points to the boys' team total. Brian Craver took second place, Tom Walters took third place, Scott Craver took fourth place and John Cleland took fifth place in the diving competition. Brian Craver went on to compete in the N.C. Finals.

TRACK

The Reynolds boys' track team, coached by Norman Trzaskoma, had another outstanding season. The Demon team was led by seniors Derrick Boston, Chris Lowe, Bryan Martin, Hunter Lambeth and Rod Williams. Junior sprint sensation was impressive while junior distance runner Mike Rustad took up where he left off in Cross Country.

The four-year school brought in some fresh young talent in sophomore standouts Darrell Wright, Kevin Williams and Roscoe Pouncey. The freshman class was equally impressive with distance runners Jeff Smith and Glenn Mays and discus thrower Lovaner Price.

The young women on the track team practiced long hours after school to perfect the skills involved in track. The skills were the traditional relays, long jumps and high jumps. Team members showed dedication, fine spirit, and good sportsmanship throughout the season.

FORE!!

After having a very commendable season last year, the 84-85 Reynolds' golf team worked diligently to become potential winners of the central 4-A conference. The Demons, stroking and putting their way to victory under the leadership of their coach, Herman Bryson, had a successful season.

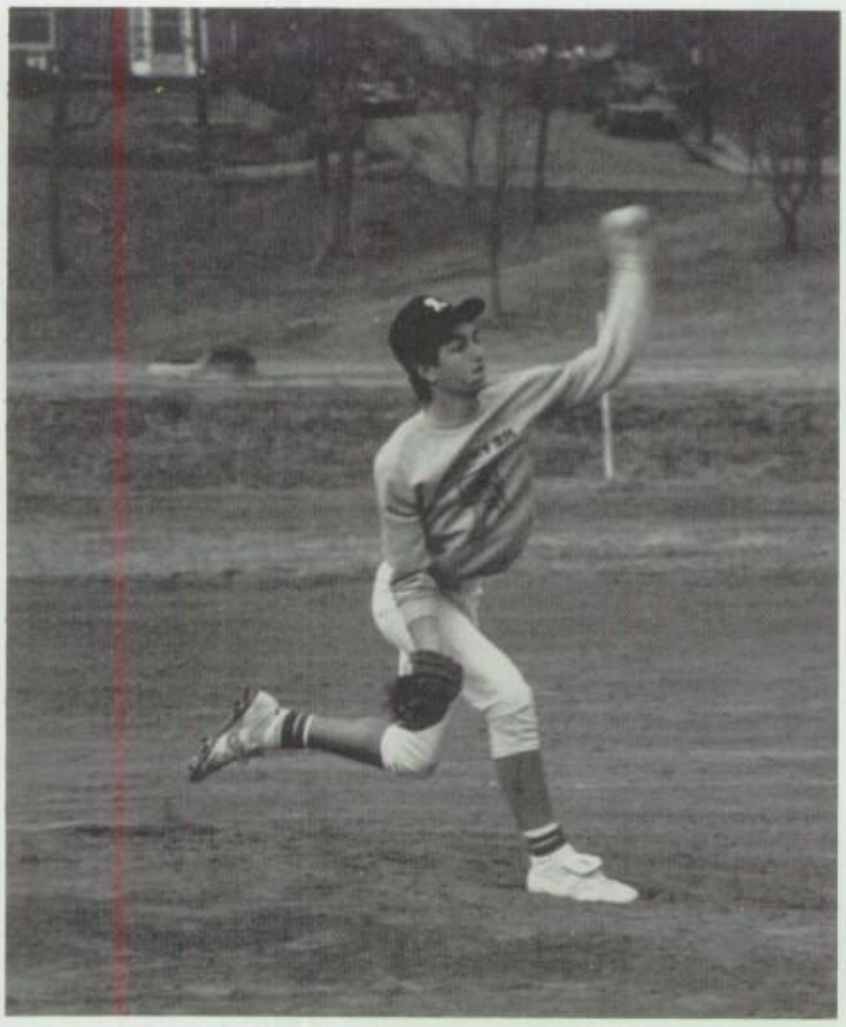
BASEBALL

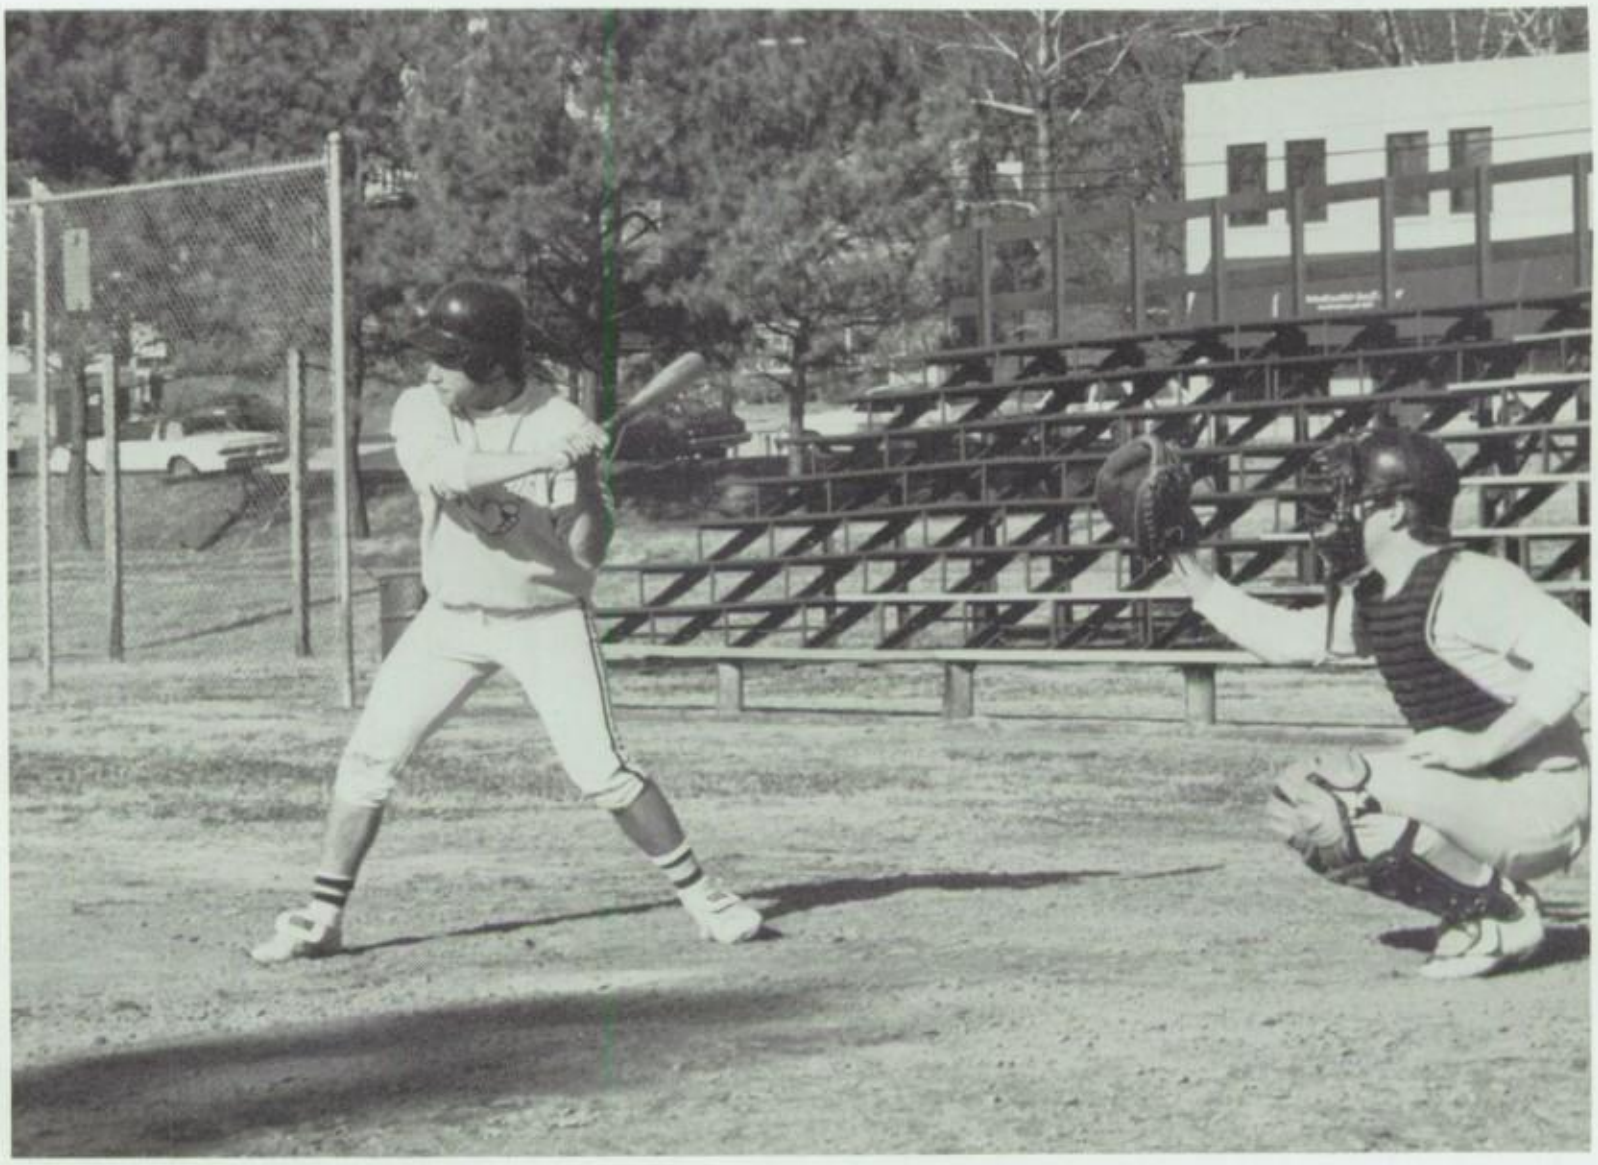
The 1985 Reynolds baseball team was led by seniors Scott Humphrey, Clay Venable, Tucker Pacula, Barry Jones, Scott Faircloth and Dairio Little.

The team's strong finish last year enabled experienced seniors and an excellent junior crop to finish equally as strong this year. The junior class, led mostly by members of 9-10 conference champion Paisley, filled the lack of seniors in the lineup.

Through the quality of coaching and the excellent talent on hand the Reynolds baseball team was led to another promising season.



BASEBALL



The softball team was led by seniors Deena Jones, Eli Lang, Sandi Linville, Kate Holt and Gina Howard. Sophomore Jenny Mountjoy added to the Demon attack. Deena Jones said the team was definitely in the running for the conference championship, and that they were looking forward to a great season.

GIRL'S SOCCER

The girls' soccer team appeared to have an excellent chance of improving last year's third place finish. The team's frontline was young with freshman Candy York, and sophomore Stacy Keith with senior Elizabeth Waston at the helm.

The strong backfield led by all conference performers Amy Weisner and Muffet Thackston appeared steady with striker Francis Bush behind them. The fullbacks strengthened by senior starters Kathy Stokes and Kiera Mountjoy gave newly acquired goalie Joanie Lacey little cause for alarm.

Coaches Mike Southard and Guy Spear both felt good about their young team and their chances of success.

Coming off a fantastic record last year, this year's tennis team had a tough act to follow. Nevertheless, they were able to pull it off. With top newcomers Rod McGeachy and Tom Murray and returning players like Kent Smith, Rob Edwards, Jerry Hauser and Burton Shields, the 1985 tennis team had a very bright outlook. The team was a strong contender to win the State Tournament.

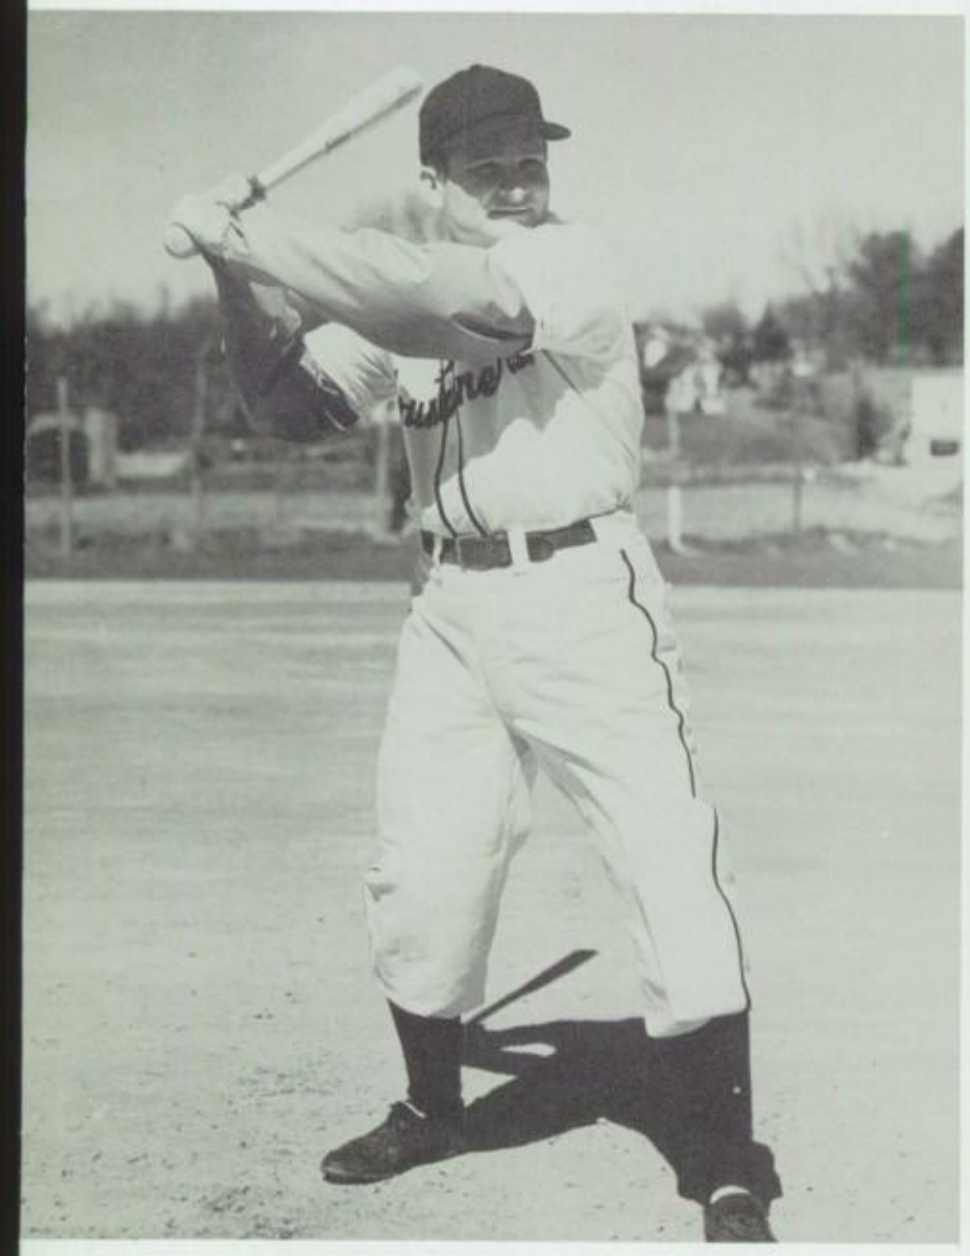
A COACHING FORCE FOR THIRTY YEARS
BY BETSY SUMNER



Reynolds High School has been graced with the tremendous coaching skills of Herman Bryson for over thirty years. His head football coaching years were 1965-1972. During this time Reynolds held a 58-18-4 record, experiencing only one losing season in 1965.

At a dinner held to honor Coach Bryson, Bob Deaton told how Bryson used this losing season as a foundation for winning years.

After Bryson retired from the position of head coach of football, he became golf coach and athletic director at Reynolds.

During his years at Reynolds, Coach Bryson has received many honors and awards. Bryson's team won conference championships in 1966, 1967, and 1968 and tied for the title in 1969 and 1970.

Bryson was named Coach of the Year in the Central 4-A Conference in 1967 and Coach of the Year in the city in 1966 and 1967. He coached the N.C. Shrine team in 1968. He was coach of the West All-Stars in the N.C. Clinic game in 1969. Bryson was also inducted into the Appalachian State University Hall of Fame for Football.

Coach Bryson will always be remembered as an important force at Reynolds. The players whom he has coached may leave Reynolds and forget their high school friends, but they will never forget their high school coach.

IN OUR OWN WORDS

New and old administration members pulled together to prove that R.J. Reynolds could be an academically successful four year high school. Teachers came from feeder schools as well as junior high schools. The fourth floor was reopened and trailors were stationed; however, many teachers still had to share rooms.

As the increasing array of students and teachers continued, the educational departments became larger, stronger, and more able to offer a wider variety of demanding courses.

The beginning of the school year brought many changes and new opportunities for Reynolds' students and faculty. The addition of freshmen and sophomore classes created added responsibility for the entire staff, especially the administration. Although these changes could have been negative ones, the administration has a totally optimistic outlook for the school year.

"This is an exciting time to be in the Forsyth County School system," stated Mr. Robert Deaton. During his 19 years as principal, Mr. Deaton has seen many improvements at RJR, but the opportunities for expansion that are now possible have increased greatly. "I'm glad to see the changes, but there are some rough edges to be smoothed out."

The three assistant principals have been equally enthusiastic about the year at Reynolds. Mr. Adolphus Coplin feels that although things will be a little hectic at first, "The four year plan will benefit students in the long run."

Mrs. Lorette Elliot, who was assistant principal at the Career Center before coming to Reynolds, said, "The changes will be a big plus for Reynolds. School spirit will be promoted and continuity in curriculum and athletics will greatly improve."

Mr. Gene Moore, a math teacher and coach at East before coming to Reynolds, replied also, "The alterations will have a very positive effect. We will be able to build better programs and have consistency throughout the school."

Experience the thrilling struggle between man and beast, hear lusty tales and read a play full of witchcraft, betrayal and tryanny! Do these words sound familiar? If they do, you've probably been the victim of one of the many ploys English teachers use to try to get sleepy teenagers interested in Beowulf, The Canterbury Tales and Macbeth.

Although English may not be the choice of most high school students, all of them take it because it is a mandatory course. If you don't pass it, you will be forced to cancel your plans for Myrtle Beach because you won't graduate. So, while you are sitting through another boring lecture on the life of William Shakespeare, remember — the end justifies the means!

MUSIC

Music will always be an important part of our lives and the music department at Reynolds realizes this. The aim of these teachers is to help students express themselves through instruments and singing. Without performances by the chorus at Thanksgiving and the other special assemblies, these events would be dull. The band helps promote spirit at football games and spices up pep rallies.

The mathematics department at Reynolds challenges students to think logically and to strive for a new comprehension of numbers and variables. Students learn that a letter in place of a number works as well and that a square is really a rectangle in disguise.

Students graduate to different levels of algebra and geometry, while gaining new insight into the King of Sciences, Mathematics.

Current events, the Constitution, city planners and freedom of the press — a wide range of subjects but you'll cover them all plus many more in just one year of social studies. All students are required to take U.S. and World Issues to graduate so even if they aren't exactly thrilled about the electoral college or the Articles of Confederation, they try their best to understand them.

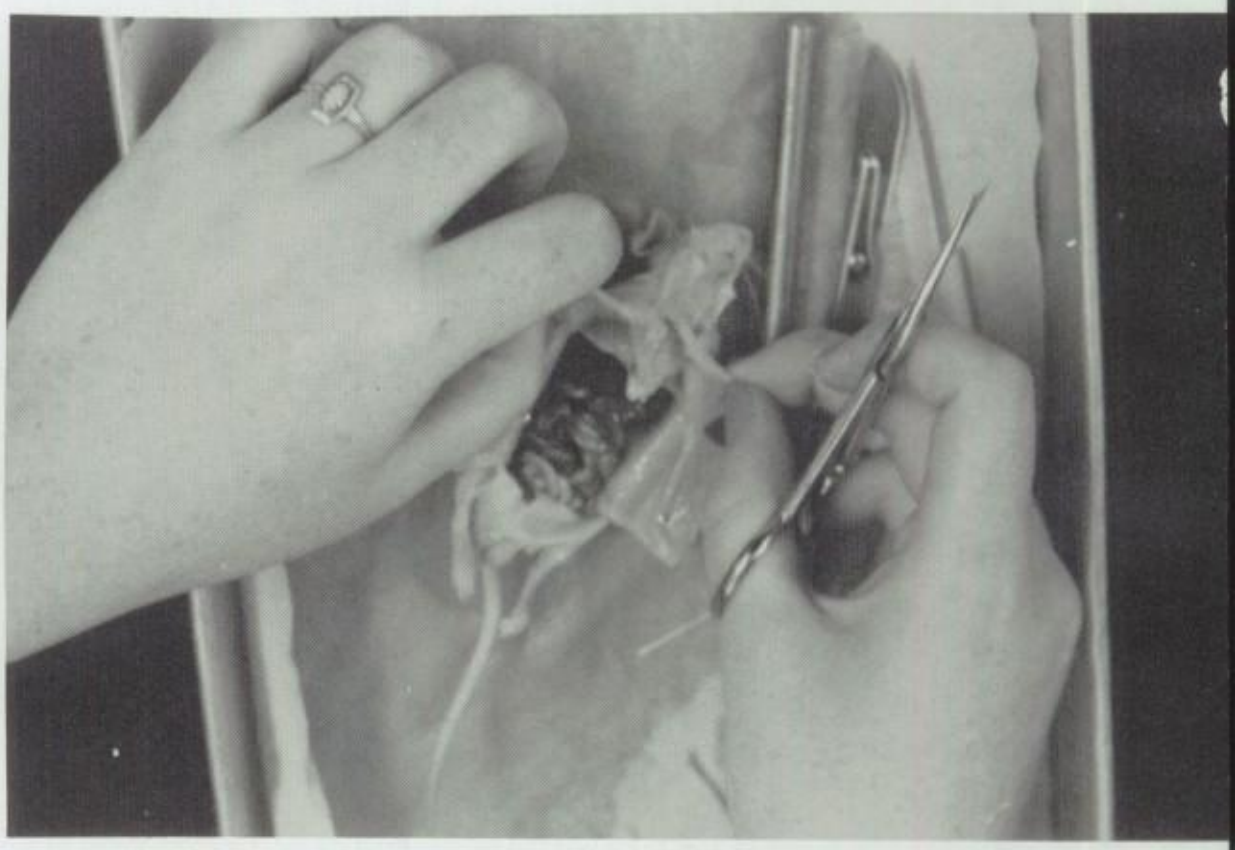
SCIENCE



Lab aprons, fetal pigs, test tubes and balanced equations — most science students encounter these daily in their stimulating search for knowledge.

At the beginning of the year, students, whether they are taking Chemistry, Contempory Science, Physics or Anatomy, don't know an isotope from an element, a stratus cloud from a lunar eclipse or the sacrum from the humerous. Usually as the year progresses, things become even more confused in the poor science students' mind. Converting equations to moles and the memorization of long lists of bones and muscles fill every spare hour. When the end of the year finally rolls around, a mutual sigh of relief can be heard from the students of these tedious, some times fascinating courses.

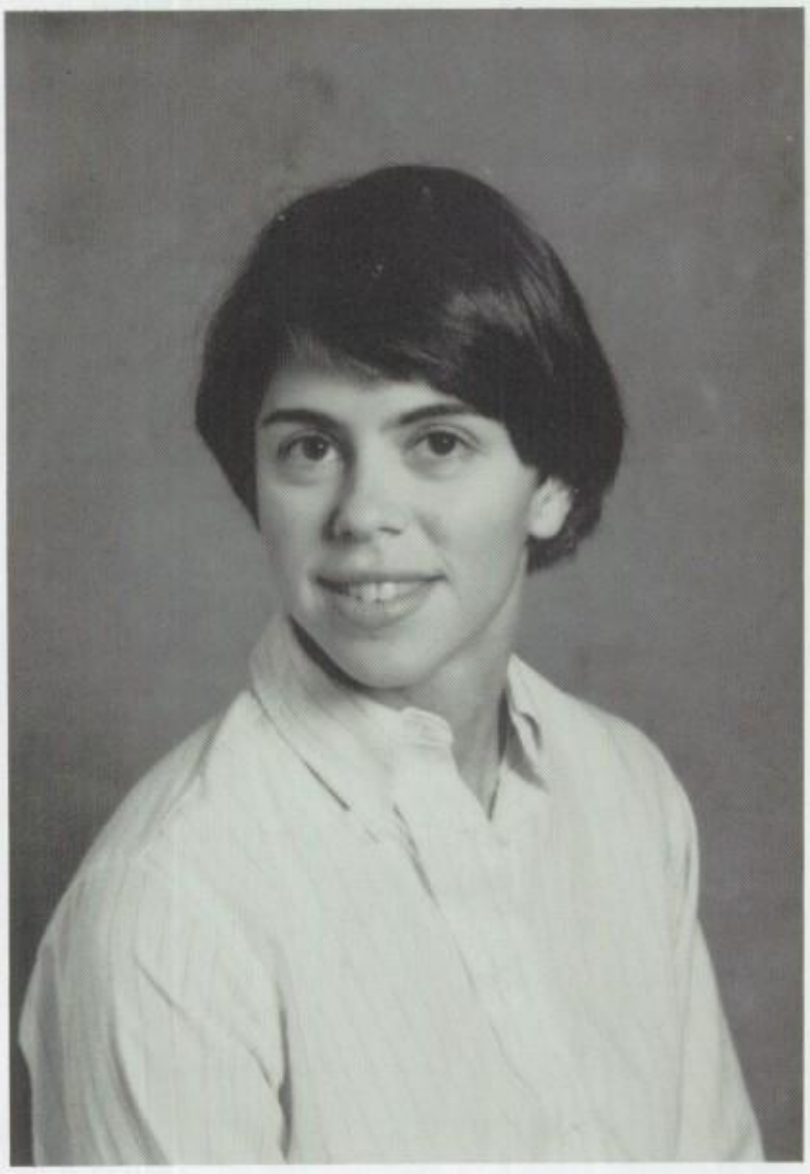
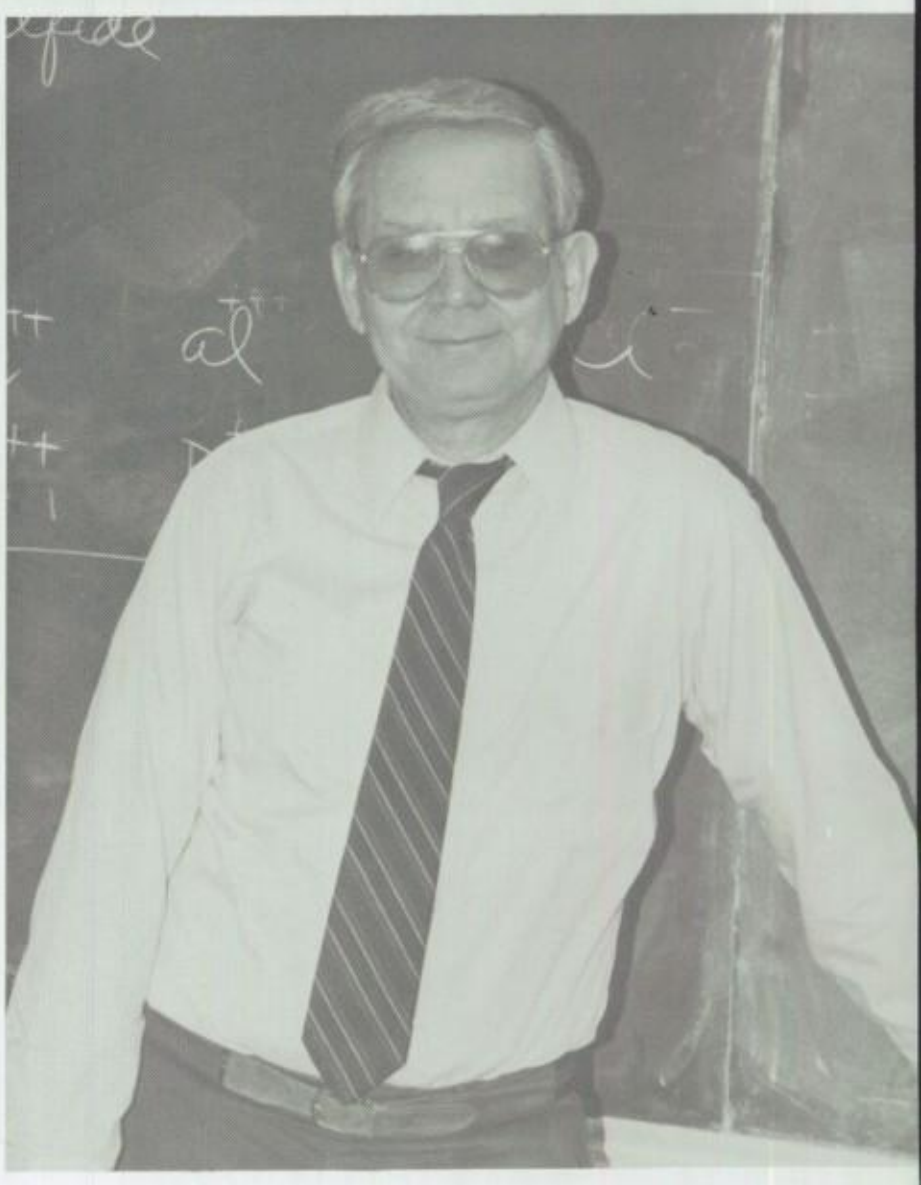
FOREIGN LANGUAGE





Most students sign up for a foreign language class never suspecting that it can actually help them gain a better understanding of English. Foreign language classes offer many unexpected advantages. Besides gaining a basic understanding of another language, students learn about a totally different culture and way of life. Although these studies are interesting, foreign language potlucks are always the favorite activities of the year. Taking a foreign language in high school can be an asset when the time comes for college enrollment. If your grades are good and you haven't forgotten all those verb conjugations, it is possible to place out of basic foreign language courses in college — and that's the biggest advantage of all!

Art classes are possibly the favorite classes of many students. In a relaxed atmosphere, students can exercise their talents in painting, drawing, batiking, and etching. The variety of areas help every student in discovering their talent in some area of art.

In business classes, the sound of typewriters clicking and ringing fill the air. Students interested in a business career or in business skills are offered thorough training. These courses are career-related and can be to the advantage of every student to become familiar with the aspects of business.

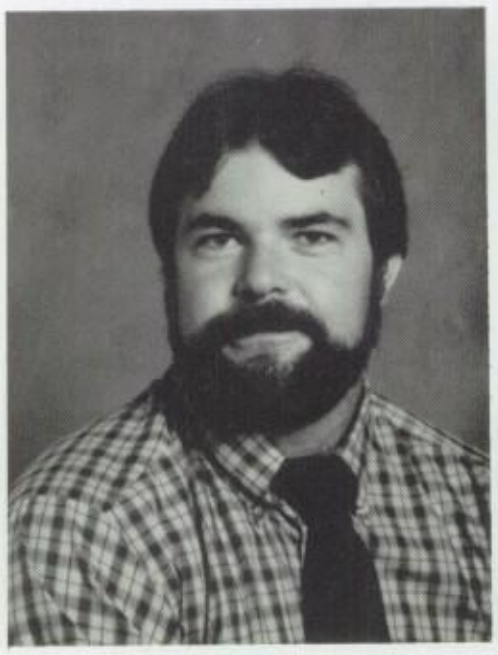
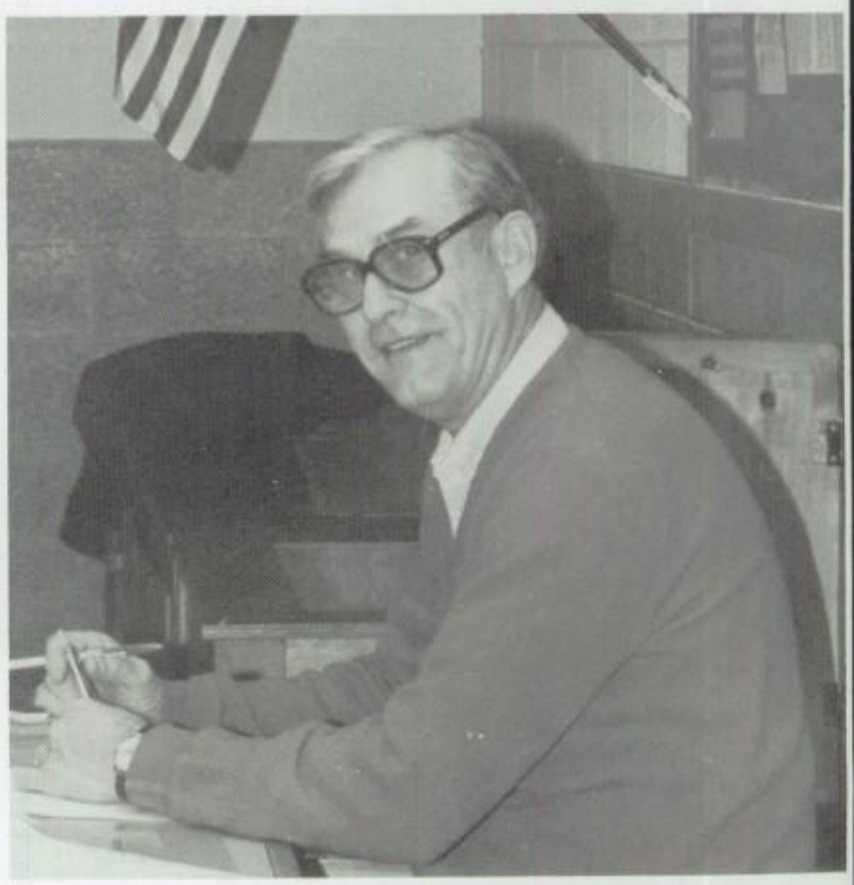
VOCATIONAL





Vocational education is a combined effort of counselors to assist students in planning careers after high school. Not only do students plan careers, but they actually begin working in jobs related to their interests. The courses include Distributive Education (DECA) and INdustrial Co-operative Training (ICT). With these programs, students can learn with a "real job" related to their career's interest. With Co-operative Occupation Training (COT), students simply learn about a specific job and plan their careers with efforts towards a successful future.

Industrial Arts is a course offered for students interested in design and architecture. Also, those interested in woodworking are offered tools and materials.

Alternatives to shop class are related courses offered in the drafting designs for homes and any other structures. Students learn to use tools in the shop such as table saws, carving tools, and drill presses. The shop students are definitely a step ahead in pursuing a career or an enjoyable hobby.

In agriculture, students learn and discuss agricultural careers. The students also learn outside of school by participating in procedures of farming, shooting, and land judging. By educational outings with fellow classmates, future farmers learn in a fun and interesting way.

Physical Education is a course encouraging fitness in the student body. Students attempt, for one and one-half units, to achieve some success at various athletics skills. Athletics on the tennis court, basketball court, or on rollerskates can be fun, but often embarrassing. Students excel in individual areas of sports. While some are geniuses on the tennis court, others are miraculously Quick-changing artists in the lockeroom.

The weight program is an afterschool program for the football players of the following season. Players planning to compete in football in the fall are required to attend eighty percent of the workouts during the spring in order to stay in shape and strengthen muscles. The weight program has been a successful program concerned with the success of the football team.

CAFETERIA AND CUSTODIAL STAFFS

Mrs. Minnie Jones, above, will retire after 35 years of service to Reynolds High.

Above, Mr. Joe Austin and Mr. Joe Thomas; Below Left, Mrs. Minnie Jones; below right, Mr. Carl Worthy and Mr. Sam Merritt. Not pictured: Mr. Angus McRae, Mr. William Walters, Mr. James Perryman, Mr. Orlando Scales.

Lisa,
Hey Look, A Senior
was great but being graduated (thanks is going to be ever better.
for the memories in English.
Love ya always

PEOPLE

Though full of changes and additions, it is definitely the people who have made the new four-year plan a success at Reynolds. The seniors have carried on old, familiar traditions and set the example for underclassmen, while juniors, sophomores, and freshmen meet new friends and become a part of their new high school.

THE BL
DANCING BO

THE SENIOR SLIDE

For eleven years and four and a half months,
You climb and climb to reach the top.
You work from dawn till dusk each day,
Just to keep from being a flop.

With your head full of logarithms,
You take your poetry test.
Searching books through the night,
You suddenly forget your quest.

For eleven years and four and a half months,
You sweat and strain to reach the top.
They say if you don't climb,
You'll spend a life behind a mop.

The strain begins to get you,
You're caught up in the race.
For no reason you compute
You're weight in outer space.
Something's going wrong,
Something's got to give.
If you lose your mind now,
How will you live?

Then on a cool January day,
You suddenly find the way.
Your last exam is over, only half a year to go.
You're now eighteen, nobody tells you, "No."
For eleven years and four and a half months,
You've worked and toiled, but now it's over.
You're now on the funnest thing ever made.
It's much better than a four-leaf clover.

You're gonna take a ride
On the Senior Slide.
The higher you've climbed,
The farther you slide.
Once, you always did homework,
Now you just don't care.
Miss a class?
Once you didn't dare.

Now it's over and you're on your own.
If you don't like Math, you stay at home.
Gonna ride the Senior Slide.
From the top, it's a long ride.

You're in class, unofficially elated,
And the Physics bore has not abetted
Your love of life and wish to live.
About the test, a hoot you don't give.

You're on the SENIOR Slide.

IN OUR COMMUNITY

Every school day, the juniors and seniors leave Reynolds for lunch and flock to their favorite fast-food restaurants: Burger King, Hop-In, MacDonalds, Arbys, and many others.

After school students can be found at Hanes Mall shopping and getting snacks at Orange Julius, Baskin Robbins, and Jo Ann's Nut House. Others shop at Thruway, Down Town, and Reynlda Village for graduation ideas.

On the weekends the popular spots are the theaters, arcades, and pizza parlors.

Congratulations, Melissa Daniel, on a fantastic 17 years. We are very proud of you. We love you.

Mom and Dad

(P.S. I am proud to have a sister like you. I will miss you next year. I love you, too. Mark)

Congratulations, Julie! Thanks for letting us share your high-school days. You have worked hard, played hard, and accomplished much. We wish you the best for the future. Thank you for the gift of life and laughter, but most of all, thank you for being you. You are a special daughter, and we will always be proud to say, "We are the parents of Julie Sale!"

Mom, Dad, Sharon, and Pam

To Karen Spencer:

Congratulations to you and your classmates! I am proud to be your mom, and I cherish the memories of your excellent scholarship, Dancing Boots, SGSC, Governor's School, Europe, and wholesome fun with your wonderful friends. Thank you for the happiness you bring each day, for your sensitivity and concern for others, and the inner beauty that matches your outward loveliness. Thank heaven for little girls!

We cordially invite you to attend Prime Time held on Wednesday nights at 7:00, especially for youth.

BRYAN ADAMS says it all for me: "Thinking about our younger years, it was only you and me. We were young and wild and free. Now nothing can change what you mean to me."

All my love,
El

Congratulations to the Class of 1985, especially HEATHER HAYES! We're mighty proud of you.

Mom, Dad, and Steve

CONGRATULATIONS, KIM WHICHARD!

You are a daughter we treasure dearly. You are one of life's most precious gifts. We sincerely wish for your future to hold as much happiness as you have given us.

Love,
Mom and Dad

We love you, Billi Jo! Congratulations to you and your friends!

To Karen Spencer

Congratulations to you and your classmates! I am a proud mom who loves you very much. You and your sisters, Lisa and Claire, have been worthy members of R.J.R., my alma mater too! I cherish the memories of your excellent scholarship, dancing boots, S.G.S.C., governor's school, Europe, and wholesome fun with your wonderful friends. Thank you for the happiness you bring each day, for your sensitivity and concern for others, and for the inner beauty that matches your outward loveliness. As the lyrics to the song go, "Thank heaven for little girls!"

Congratulations to Sara Turner and the class of '85

Love,
Mom and Dad

Melanie, you have made us

We love you,
The Torreysons

Congratulations to the Class of 1985 and best wishes for future success to all of you. Keira, you have always made us proud to be your parents. You are terrific, and remember if all else fails, you can have "Tea for Two."

Love,
Mom and Dad

IN THE COMMUNITY

We concluded the school year with Class Day and graduation exercises. As the last few weeks came, we looked on the year and realized it wasn't as bad as we had first thought. Although we had two thousand students packed into our sixty-two-year-old building, everyone contributed to our success. Through competition in sixteen sports, we were able to obtain over 20 major titles along with many individual successes. Growing interest towards serving R.J. Reynolds and the Winston-Salem community, led to a final count of 13 service clubs and over 20 academic organizations. The prime feature, The Key Club Follies, grossed more profits than ever before. Through all areas of "Reynolds life," we all pulled together and proved our own success though we were constantly adapting to the many changes involved in the new four-year-high-school plan.

The success started in August as the soccer and football teams began competition in route of conference and state championships. A larger portion of the RJR masses supported athletic functions and seniors especially recall homecoming.

Throughout the fall, SAT's and college applications were the main focus of seniors. Freshmen, sophomores, and juniors dwelled within projects and term papers to ensure a ride on "Senior Slide" their senior year. After Junior try-outs for clubs, the Thanksgiving can food drive and Christmas toy drive concluded, many college acceptance letters appeared, and senior slide overwhelmed many.

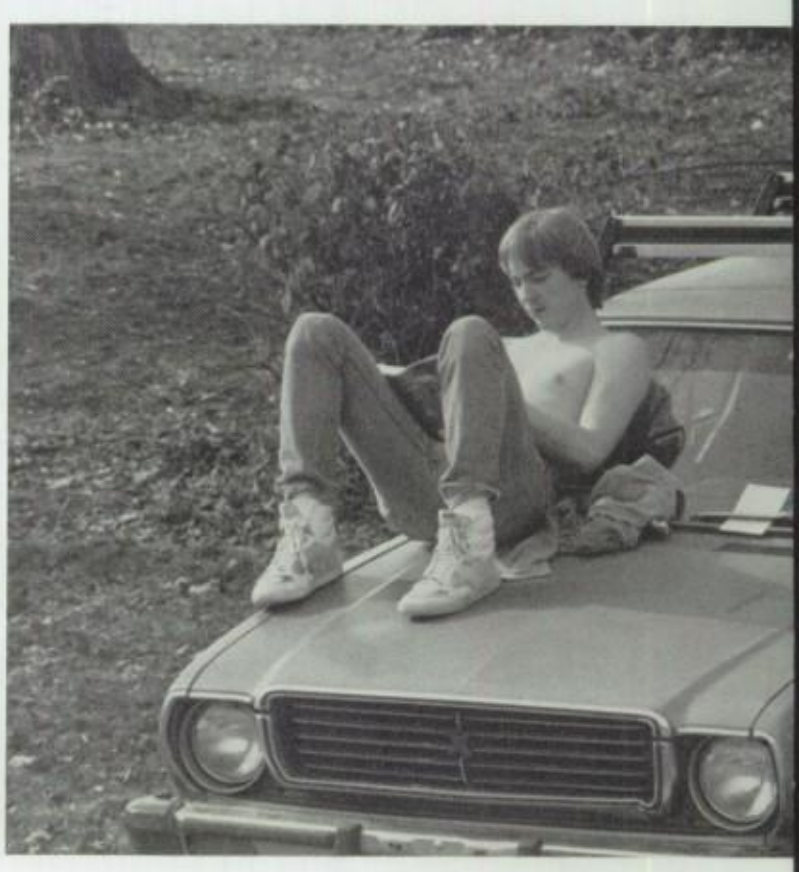
OXFORD



However, the year wasn't over yet! Talented students of all classes auditioned for the Key Club Follies. Winter sports came to a winning close, and the transferred to spring sports. Sophomores presented their ideas for services to Reynolds during their service-club tryouts, as the freshmen founded service clubs of their own.

Clubs and students pulled together to support a concert performed on a weekend in which profits went to an Ethiopia Hunger Project. Other school-sponsored organizations supported Red Cross CPR courses, seat-belt campaigns, peer-counseling, and a campaign against drunk driving.

The final quarter of the year drawing closer as warmer days came, freshmen and sophomores ran off campus for lunch to Burger King with their upper-classmen friends. Seniors' schedules were changed to create more sixth period study halls and in order to get a great tan before the Prom.

Some students who hadn't been overcome by spring fever planned for next year's elections. The fun and togetherness spread with Class Day, graduation practices, yearbook-signing parties, and the beach in the horizons.

Spring sports concluded and some of our athletes began receiving athletic scholarships. Final decisions for academic scholarships were made, and the final transcripts were in demand; however, at the same time, orientation for next year went on and the seniors realized that life at Reynolds would go on without them. Thus, something new, something old; something Reynolds, BLACK AND GOLD.

To A Very cute And lovely girl that I didn't get to know As well As I wanted to But that the way the Ball Bounces But I still (love you!!) Jerome Davis

Well Lisa, you know its been a long, crazy, and wild year here at B.K. I'm to not going to say good bye cause me & my roommate will be down to central & of course

I will visit

Magic

Your college life on campus is going to be great. We will have to get together some day and party hardy. You will also have to come over some week ends & spend the night.

P.S. The days are hot some nights are a shocker But nobody makes the day like the Magic Rocker!!

Lisa,

It has been nice knowing you this year, even though I've only known you for one year you will be in my memory as a good friend and someone to talk and goof off with.

Luv ya.
